New Paltz Man Retires After 39 Years With C-H

Kenneth Vanderlyn of New Paltz, superintendent of Hydroelectric Plants of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, began his retirement today after 39 years' service.

Vanderlyn began his long utility career on December 15, 1919 as an electrician at Rifton with the former Upper Hudson Electric Corporation, a predecessor company of Central Hudson.

He was advanced to switchboard operator in 1921 and was named superintendent of Sturgeon Pool Hydroelectric Plant in 1923.

The utility veteran became assistant to the transmission superintendent at New Paltz in 1928 and electrical inspector at the company's Ohioville Substation the following year. In 1930 he went to Poughkeepsie as transportation supervisor and in 1935 was transferred to Newburgh where he served as substation supervisor. He has been serving as superintendent of Hydroelectric Plants since 1938.

Vanderlyn has been a member of the Central Hudson Employees Quarter Century Club.

Appeals Court Has Outline on Plan For Reduced Costs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An appeals court is offering to show lawyers how to cut costs of bringing cases before it.

The Appellate Division, Third Department, announced Sunday it was distributing a pamphlet outlining procedures for submitting mimeographed or typewritten briefs in appeals.

Most appellate courts require that briefs be printed. That requirement has been criticized on the ground that it makes the cost of appealing too high for many individuals.

The Third Department tribunal noted that its rule providing for a less expensive type of brief had been in effect for several years. The pamphlet will make it easier for lawyers to understand and use the system, the court said.

The extent to which the plan is used will determine whether it will be continued, the justices said.

The Appellate Division, Third Department, is the appellate section of State Supreme Court for 28 counties in Eastern, Northern and Central New York.

A proposal for a general rule allowing filing mimeographed briefs was made in an article published Saturday in the New York University Law Review.

It was written by Prof. Bertram Wilcox and Mrs. Ruth Roemer, research associate, both of the Cornell University Law School, and Prof. Delmar Karlen of the Law School of New York University.

They surveyed attorneys in Onondaga, Oswego and Oneida counties and the City of Rochester. All are in the Appellate Division for the Fourth Department.

The Law Review article said that high printing costs resulted in "not only a denial of justice but also a great economic waste."

44 Die in State During Weekend Storms, Mishaps

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Forty-four persons died in accidents and storms in New York State over a long Thanksgiving holiday dominated by a savage attack of winter weather.

Highway accidents claimed 29 lives. Seven persons died shoveling snow and an eighth while putting chains on a car. Fire took three lives and four persons died in other types of accidents.

Storms that shrieked in off the Great Lakes left snow drifts up to six feet deep in parts of Western New York.

Temperatures dropped as low as 9 degrees below zero.

Gross Facing Levy Of Million and Half

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—

An Internal Revenue Service agent today slapped a $1,504,313.52 levy on onetime kingpin bookie Harry Gross for unpaid federal income taxes.

This was shortly after Gross waived extradition to California.

Kingston Hospital Names Assistant Nursing Director

FRANCES C. NABBE, RN

An Olive Bridge woman who has held executive positions with both the American Red Cross and the Federal Civil Defense Administration, has been named director of nursing service at Kingston Hospital.

She is Mrs. Frances C. Nabbe, RN, a graduate of Methodist Hospital, Brooklyn, and Teachers College of Columbia University. Announcement of her appointment to the post at the local hospital was made today by Miss Rosemary Pellegrino, RN, director of nursing service.

Joining the American Red Cross, Mrs. Nabbe became director of nurses for the Eastern Area, and then served for a year at American National Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D. C.

When the Federal Civil Defense Administration was organized, Mrs. Nabbe became its consultant and director of nursing service, remaining with that office until 1954. She is a lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve, and continues as a member of the active reserve.

In 1954, Mrs. Nabbe joined her husband, Philip M. Nabbe, a colonel in the Army Medical Corps, in Europe, returning last year for a year's stay in Fort Carson, Col.

They surveyed attorneys in Onondaga, Oswego and Oneida counties and the City of Rochester. All are in the Appellate Division for the Fourth Department.

The airline strike and hazardous highways caused the greatest to face charges in a Los Angeles larceny case.

Owed Since 1948

The IRS agent, Victory A. Scileppi, said the levy represented taxes the government claims Gross owes for 1948.

Scileppi also seized all of Gross' personal cash but refused to reveal the amount.

The agent said California authorities would follow up the case. Gross, 44, whose 20-million-dollar-a-year bookie ring in Brooklyn was smashed in 1950, refused to waive extradition Sunday.

Changes Mind Today

He changed his mind today. After conferring with Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta, he informed County Judge John R. Schwartz of his consent.

Gross appeared without an attorney. He was remanded to county prison to await arrival of California officials.

Gross was sent to the county jail Sunday as a fugitive from justice after he refused to waive extradition at an arraignment before Justice of the Peace George Dietz.

Shortly after Gross was paroled here last March 13, he went to Los Angeles. He was charged there with eight counts of grand theft. Los Angeles police said he obtained $27,000 from three men by offering them 5 per cent interests in a restaurant and a motel and in gambling operations in Mexico, despite the fact that he owned none of them. The complaint was issued last Oct. 17, and bail was set at $10,000.

While the California case was pending, Gross came east. He was seen here several days ago, reportedly representing himself as an auto dealer.

Acted on Tip

Acting on a tip Saturday night, New York State Trooper Emmett Donohue and Poughkeepsie Police Detective Francis Doerr drove to a restaurant in Wappingers Falls, 12 miles south of here. The officers found Gross and two companions had dinner, and all three were arrested.

The two companions were charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly consorting with a person of known criminal background. They identified themselves as John Zaccia Jr., 31, and Frank A. Fischetti, 24, both of Brooklyn.

Two Held in Jail

Zaccia and Fischetti, who said they are in the used car business, were arraigned with Gross before Dietz. The two men pleaded innocent to the disorderly conduct charges. They failed to produce $2,000 bail each, and Dietz ordered them held in jail pending a hearing.

Tompkins Advising Ashby's Case Go to Appellate Division

The "fitness" of Commissioner of Jurors Edwin W. Ashby to hold office will apparently be placed in the hands of the Appellate Division, it was indicated today.

Son Bernard Tompkins, special prosecutor in the kickback probe, said today he would recommend to the special grand jury that the matter be referred "without delay" to that body.

Has Power of Removal

Section 653 of the Judiciary Law places the power of removal solely in the Appellate Division.

Tompkins said he was acting, following receipt of a communication from Ulster County Jury Board referring the matter back to the special prosecutor "for such action as you may see fit to take before the proper authority."

Members of the jury board are: Supreme Court Justices Harry E. Schirick and Roscoe V. Elsworth and Supervisor Jesse McHugh of Town of Shawangunk.

Grand Jury Asks Action

The special grand jury investigating kickbacks voted 10 days ago to direct Tompkins to submit a communication to the Ulster County Jury Board in connection with the fitness of Ashby to serve as commissioner. All Ulster County juries are impaneled by the commissioner.

Tompkins prepared such a communication which was delivered to the jury board. Its contents have not been disclosed.

Text of Statement

Full text of Tompkins' statement follows:

"This morning I received a communication from the Ulster County Jury Board consisting of Supreme Court Justices Harry E. Schirick and Roscoe V. Elsworth and Supervisor Jesse McHugh regarding Commissioner of Jurors Edwin W. Ashby.

"The communication advises that at its recent meeting the board had given careful consideration to the communication of the grand jury and has made its contents available to Commissioner Ashby. However the statute (Section 653 of the Judiciary Law) places removal power solely in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

Without Delay, He Says

"The letter from the board

concludes, 'In view of statutory limitation upon our powers we refer the matter back to you for such action as you may see fit to take before proper authority.'

"Under the circumstances," I shall recommend to the grand jury that the matter of Commissioner Ashby's fitness to hold office be referred without delay to the Appellate Division."

600 Travelers Are Stranded During Storm on Thruway

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—"Hey, my car's stuck somewhere between here and Rochester. Did you tow it out yet?"

That, say state troopers, is typical of about 200 questions they heard Sunday after about 200 cars and trucks were abandoned on the Thruway between Batavia and the Pennsylvania line in a snowstorm.

About 600 travelers spent Saturday night on floors in five Thruway restaurants, in interchange buildings, schools, State Police barracks, homes and even in the armory in Batavia.

Restaurants Jammed

Only a few were lucky enough to find beds, or even chairs. Not many could sleep. The two restaurants at Batavia and Clarence between Buffalo and Batavia were jammed with 150 to 200 people each.

All the travelers were on their way again by Sunday night. About 20 cars were still unclaimed, but troopers assumed the drivers had gone on by bus, train or plane and would return for their cars in a few days.

One woman, Mrs. Enno Wittehaus of St. Petersburg, Fla., drove as far as the Pembroke service area and quit.

Food Only Convenience

"The place was packed solid with people," she said. "Children were lying around everywhere on the floor."

"They brought us a few blankets, but then they took them away again. I don't know why. We could buy food and coffee and it was warm, but that was all."

Settlement Seen Near on TWA Pact

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Air travelers had cause for optimism today. Quick settlement of a 10-day-old machinists' strike against Trans World Airlines, one of two major lines immobilized by labor disputes, was expected.

Whether the optimism would grow or take a sour turn depended upon developments in Kansas City and New York City.

At a dinner hour recess of negotiations in Kansas City Sunday night, Cliff Miller, chairman of District 142, International Assn. of Machinists, said: "It's not a question of 'if' in getting this thing settled any more. It's a question of how soon."

Struck Nov. 21

The bargaining session ended at midnight and was scheduled to resume today. The machinists struck TWA last Nov. 21.

Eastern Air Lines, struck by the machinists and the Flight Engineers International Assn. last Monday, offered to submit many of its differences with the engineers to arbitration. The proposal was rejected.

Representatives of two other carriers, American Airlines and Pan American World Airways, appear in court in New York City today in labor disputes.

American, the nation's biggest airline, is seeking to make permanent its employees to refuse to work overtime. The workers, 8,000 ground and flight service employees are members of the Transport Workers Union.

Seeks Injunction

Pan American is seeking an injunction in State Supreme Court forbidding its employees to refuse to work overtime. The workers, 8,000 ground and flight service employees are members of the Transport Workers Union.

A weeklong strike of 30-odd stewardesses continued against the Lake Central Airlines. Negotiators failed to reach agreement in Indianapolis Sunday. The line serves Ohio, Indiana, and parts of Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan.

The snarled airline situation jammed trains, buses and planes of operating airlines as the long Thanksgiving weekend closed and (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Rate Increase Is Asked for Sector Electric Service

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation today filed increased electric rates with the New York State Public Service Commission. The proposed rates would apply to customers' bills beginning February 26, 1959 and would result in an increase of from one to three cents per day for the majority of residential customers.

For example, a residential customer who now pays $10 per month would pay $10.97, while a customer who presently pays $30 every two months for electric service would pay $31.59, it was explained.

Ernest R. Acker, president of Central Hudson, said the proposed rate increase would also apply to all industrial and commercial customers in amounts depending upon the character of their usage. He stated that the increase would raise the company's gross revenues by about $1,400,000 in 1959, but pointed out that more than half of the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Historic Old Dutch Church Bell Will Signal 300 Anniversary Start Dec. 31

Ring of the historic bell in the tower of the Old Dutch Church at midnight Wednesday, Dec. 31, will mark the beginning of a year-long celebration of its 300th anniversary.

Plans for the year have been developing steadily with many events on the calendar.

Stuart Munson, administrative assistant in public relations at the Kingston IBM plant, general chairman of the 300th anniversary of the Old Dutch Church, said today that the history of the church, founded Sept. 12, 1659, was inseparable from the history of the community.

The church will cooperate with the city and Ulster county in its participation in the Hudson-Champlain Celebration, a part of the state's Year of History.

Efforts are being made to bring a representative of The Netherlands Mother Church to Kingston during the year. It is possible that a member of the Royal Family may also visit the city and the church, as Queen Juliana did in 1952.

Dutch naval units are expected to visit the Hudson river during the year. An art exhibit of 50 paintings comprising a history of Dutch art during the period 1609-59 will be shipped to the valley from the Netherlands as a part of the Year of History. It is hoped to bring the exhibit to Kingston.

The Old Dutch Church will share in an international broadcast in 1959. A script will be taped, part of it in The Netherlands, part here, for broadcasting on both sides of the Atlantic.

2 Men Are Political Opposites West May Use Six Months on Study

BERLIN (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today held one of his rare meetings with political enemy, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, to discuss the Berlin situation.

They met in Bonn while a U.S. military train running to West Berlin was delayed for an hour by what Communist East German officials called a broken rail.

Explanation Accepted

The U.S. Army accepted the Communist explanation, mindful that the incident was similar to those used by the Soviet Union before imposing the 1948-49 blockade of West Berlin. At that time, all land routes to the isolated city were closed for "technical reasons."

Details Are Secret

Officials said the chancellor briefed opposition party chiefs on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's note on Berlin and disclosed subsequent exchanges he has had with the Western Allies. Those taking part agreed to keep details of the conference secret but they said no political decisions were taken.

The Western Powers may use the six months Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given them to leave West Berlin to review demands for the unification of Germany by free elections.

Informants in the Communist-surrounded city said diplomats in the Western capitals were discussing a proposal to call for a big East-West conference, either on the summit or the foreign ministers level, to reopen the whole German problem.

This would include not only Berlin but German unification and a German peace treaty.

Insists on Red Terms

In his Thanksgiving Day note to the Western Powers, Khrushchev himself said the unification of Germany would be the best solution of all for the Berlin question. But he again insisted on the Soviet terms—a neutralized federation of the two Germans, with the Sovietized part getting a say in the Western part.

The Western Allies contend that a peace treaty can be negotiated only with a sovereign all-German government freely elected. East Germany has never had a free election and for that reason is not recognized by the West.

Suggest 'Round Table'

The possibility of a high-level conference on Germany was raised further when Khrushchev declared at a Moscow reception Saturday that he would like to drink a toast again with the Soviet Union's wartime allies and discuss peacefully a Berlin solution at a "round table."

The British, French and Americans already have made clear they will turn down Khrushchev's proposal that West Berlin be made a demilitarized free city—which would be open to a Communist grab as soon as the 9,000 Western troops had withdrawn.

Manned by East Germans

Alert to the possibility of a renewal of the blockade tactics of 1948-49, the U.S. Army reported one of its two daily military trains to Berlin was delayed for over an hour today.

East German officials said a (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

610 Die in U. S. Over Long Period Of Thanksgiving

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic 443
Fires 51
Miscellaneous 116
Total 610

More than 600 Americans were killed in accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend, nearly 450 of them in traffic crashes. The toll of traffic deaths was higher than that counted in a non-holiday period of identical length two weeks ago. It was not as high as the 470 estimate made by the National Safety Council for a 102-hour non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

The season's first major snowstorm was regarded as a big factor in a number of deaths on the highways. The cold weather also added to the number of violent deaths as a series of destructive fires took the lives of several persons, including many children.

Although the traffic death toll for the 102-hour period from 6 p. m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight Sunday was high, it appeared the total was below the average for a comparable period. No preliminary estimate of the traffic death toll was made by the National Safety Council but it said that 470 deaths on the highways could be expected in a 102-hour nonholiday weekend at this time of year.

The nation's traffic toll last year was 38,500, an average of about 105 a day. The Associated Press, for comparison purposes, made a survey in a 102-hour non-holiday weekend earlier last month and counted 394 traffic deaths. Other violent deaths for the period showed 32 in fires and 121 in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 547.

The record over-all accident deaths during a four-day holiday period was 884 set at Christmas 1956. Of the total, 707 were killed in traffic accidents. At least four states, New York, Alabama, California and Illinois, each reported 20 or more deaths on the highways. New York led all states in total violent deaths with 36. Rhode Island was the only state not reporting any violent deaths.

Northeast Region Employment Rises Over 5½ Million

Employment in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey metropolitan area increased 27,400 in October, rising above the 5½-million mark for the first time this year, Herbert Bienstock, acting regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced today.

The area's October non-farm job total of 5,522,200, however, was 135,200 below the October 1957 figure, Bienstock pointed out primarily because of job losses in manufacturing.

The September to October gain was largely seasonal, as wholesale and retail trade establishments added 11,000 workers to payrolls and state and local government, 16,400. Manufacturing employment was up 4,500 to 1,639,900, the highest level since February 1958 but 124,200 under the year-ago figure. Employment in the service industries and in transportation and public utilities also rose. These increases more than offset a somewhat larger-than-seasonal reduction of 6,900 in construction and a 1,500 decline in finance, insurance and real estate.

Over a six-week period of manufacturing production workers improved substantially in October, Bienstock noted. The factory workweek, a widely used economic indicator, rose from 38.3 to 39 hours. This raised factory hours of work above the year-ago level for the first time since September 1957 and 1.3 hours above the recession low of 37.7 in April 1958. The longer workweek added $153 to the average weekly pay of factory production workers, lifting weekly earnings to a new all-time record of $85.02 in October. Hourly earnings, meanwhile, held steady at the $2.18 peak reached in September.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of the Town of Ulster, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

De Gaulle Backers Trounce Reds in French Voting

PARIS (AP)—Right-wingers waving the banner of Premier Charles de Gaulle flattened the Communists, badly trimmed more moderate parties and swept to firm control of the new French National Assembly today.

The Communists held 29.9 per cent of the popular vote but captured only 10 of the 149 seats they had held in the last National Assembly in the man-to-man runoff elections in France Sunday.

Duclos Is Loser

Among the losers was the fiery Communist mouthpiece and organizer Jacques Duclos.

Topped like shooting gallery ducks were many of the ex-premiers, ministers and wheelwheers of the center parties—among them former Radical Premier Edgar Faure, Socialist disarmament negotiator Jules Moch, former Socialist Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, former Socialist Algerian administrator Robert Lacoste and former Justice Minister Francois Mitterand.

Dark-browed Jacques Soustelle became the man to watch in the new Fifth Republic. It was Soustelle who eluded police, escaped to Algeria and gave political direction to the rightist movement that crumpled the Fourth Republic last May.

His Union for a New Republic (UNR) captured 32.1 per cent of the vote and 138 of the 465 seats from European France. Not since 1946, when Communists elected 174 deputies, has a party held such a large block of seats.

The conservative votes of 120 independent and peasant deputies, combined with the UNR's 138, gave the rightists a clear majority.

Gross Facing

authorities said he told them he had paid one million dollars a year to policemen for protection. Charges were made against 18 Brooklyn policemen, but Gross refused to testify against them and the cases were dropped. For refusing to testify, Gross was sentenced to 12 consecutive one-year terms on contempt of court charges. The sentences were later reduced to a total of eight years.

Gross had other difficulties with the law here and in New Jersey. A State Court ruling here last March 13 said he had served enough time as a probation violator. A few days later he was taken to Hackensack, N. J., on a charge of violation of probation in a bookmaking case. He was freed on that charge on March 20.

Mother of Three, Friend Held in Husband Slaying

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother of three and her ex-convict boy friend are charged with murdering her husband in what police described as a plot to collect a double indemnity insurance policy.

Police said 23-year-old Richard Lansing, whose criminal record began when he was 15, admitted shooting Peter Saisi, 30, in the head as the insurance agent lay pleading on the basement floor of his West Side home the night of Oct. 27.

Lansing and Mrs. Mary Saisi, 33, stared at each other coldly Sunday moments before police charged the pair with killing Saisi.

Lansing said, according to police, that he shot Saisi at the woman's instigation for part of a $12,000 double indemnity insurance policy and Saisi's 1958 model car.

Earlier, Mrs. Saisi told calmly that she had plotted with Lansing on robbing her husband because Lansing needed money. But she insisted she never suggested the killing.

Claimed Robbery

After Saisi was killed, Mrs. Saisi told police he was shot by two Negroes who broke into and robbed her husband's basement office. She aided a police artist in drawing sketches of the two men.

Police said they were skeptical. They couldn't understand why robbers would take only $180 from Saisi's pockets, leave an expensive watch and order Mrs. Saisi upstairs as she claimed. Robbers would have forced her to remain in the basement, they theorized.

Moonshine Output Is Slowed Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The domestic moonshine industry has lost a big part of its production capacity just as the holiday season approaches.

So reports the Treasury Department which says that during October its agents confiscated 810 illegal stills with a capacity for producing 21,776 gallons of hard liquor daily.

At the same time the agency said its sleuths had confiscated 18,075 gallons of illicit spirits plus 379,832 gallons of mash.

This haul doesn't vary too greatly from that of October, 1957, when agents confiscated 760 stills with a capacity of 25,940 gallons daily, 461,987 gallons of mash and 19,343 gallons of liquor.

Agents grabbed 187 stills in North Carolina and 119 in South Carolina. Three were confiscated in New York State.

U.S. Basic Foreign Policy Of Containment Is Weak

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians and Red Chinese are now testing the United States' basic foreign policy — containment — which was thought out and started in the late 1940s.

That policy called for military alliances and bases around the perimeter of the Communist world to prevent its expansion. It worked fine so long as the Communist world was weak and trying to get organized. It's weak no longer.

The policy of containment is also essentially preservation of the status quo. And since its inception the West has been conducting a holding operation, with no new ideas.

Ride in Rocking Chair
But in a changing world, indefinite preservation of the status quo is an illusion. It's like riding up to meet onrushing events in a rocking chair. The result:

Instead of acting with new ideas, fresh approaches, the West has been reduced simply to reacting when the Communist world, Soviet or Red Chinese, has acted. Once again it is being forced to react—this time against the greatest Soviet test of Western containment at Berlin. The Soviets want the Western powers to abandon this city which is 110 miles within Communist East Germany.

That would leave the city—already divided between West Germans and East German Communists—an island entirely within the sea of Communist East Germany. Almost certainly the city would be engulfed by communism.

Nikita's Ultimatum
President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both talk of standing firm. Whether standing firm is the answer, or whether some new ideas are needed in dealing with the Soviet Union and a divided Germany will be clearer in the next few months.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given the West six months to make a deal of some kind or get out. But whatever the West does it will be acting only in response to a previous Soviet action.

And, because the Soviet Union is now strong and has at its side an increasingly strong ally in Red China, the West faces the prospect of one Soviet move after another to smash the whole containment policy.

There's been a lot of speculation on what Khrushchev is after by this sudden decision on Berlin. Equally significant, if the answer were known, is why he chose this particular time to make his thrust.

If he can back the United States down on Berlin, this country's smaller allies in Western Europe not only will be shaken but will have reason to question their reliance on the United States in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

Answer in One Voice
The United States, Britain and France—all with occupation rights in Berlin—are supposed to get together and answer Khrushchev in one voice.

What Khrushchev and the rest of the world are waiting to see is whether the answer shows vitality and imagination, weakness, indecision, or a repetition of old ideas now being challenged by communism.

BLOCKADE? — Isolated West Berlin fears a total Communist blockade despite an American pledge to fight if necessary to hold the city against the Communists. LABORING UP A STEEP GRADE

If the sound of train whistles seems more mournful these days, you can be sure a good part of it echoes the anguish of railroad management over the steady decline in passenger traffic.

The airplane has lured away the long-haul passengers. The bus has taken its share of intercity riders. Countless more have disappeared in the family automobile.

Now comes a new report by the U. S. Bureau of Roads which shows that 68 per cent of all American breadwinners use their cars to get to work every day. As has been suspected all along, the vanishing railroad commuter is hitting the highway.

It's small wonder that railroad's keep asking for boosts in fares to take up the slack, or that some pessimists predict that passenger trains will go the way of the stagecoach within the next couple of decades.

We find it hard to believe that either the high fares or the voice of doom are on the right track. It seems more sensible for the community to step in and give the railroads a helping hand.

After all, we're spending some 260 million dollars on 40 U. S. airports to get them in shape for the jet airline age. We'll spend almost two billion dollars in the next five years for jet-age controls of the nation's airways. An even more staggering sum is going into federal roads program.

Yet who ever heard of building a railroad terminal with taxpayers' money? Of course not. Instead we seek them for taxes on the stations and right-of-way they build and maintain themselves.

The railroads, to be sure, are not blameless. At times, it would almost seem as if they were deliberately trying to get rid of passengers.

But the evidence seems to be that they're not going to be able to do any better unless they get enough tax relief so that passenger service—especially the essential commuter service—especially the essential commuter service in the growing suburban areas—begins to pay its own way.

Otherwise, the time will come when everybody will have to take to the highway to get to work. If you think rush-hour traffic is tough now, mull over that prospect for a while.

WE BREATHE DIRTY AIR

A prominent medical educator said at the National Conference on Air Pollution that the rise in lung cancer is "quite as referable to increased city traffic exhausts as to cigarettes." Whether or not this view is fully substantiated by tests, one thing is sure: the problem of dirty air has become so troublesome that it needs to be dealt with on a broad scale.

Though greatly improved methods of curbing the industrial smoke nuisance have been developed and put to at least limited use in recent years, the menace of polluted air in our cities continues to increase. One of the major reasons for this, perhaps the biggest reason of all, is the tremendous growth of automotive traffic.

The amount of exhaust gases poured fourth into the air along a heavily traveled street in the course of a day is astonishing. Some or a great deal of this gas, depending on atmospheric conditions, remains in the air city dwellers breathe. Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, assistant dean of the college of medicine at Ohio State University, believes that these fumes may have as much to do with causing lung cancer as cigarette smoking does.

Dr. Leake has some stern words for the automotive industry. When, he asked, are auto and truck manufacturers going to tackle "the essential but tough job of controlling exhausts?" It is a question most pertinent to the whole matter of air pollution. The development through which autos have gone during the past half century gives every reason to suppose that the engineers could devise means of controlling exhaust gases if they set their minds to it. They ought to get busy at the job.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE BARBARIAN AT THE GATE

I once heard a man make this comparison. He said: the Romans at least knew that the barbarians were at their gates; we are conscious of nothing.

Americans dislike gloom. They dislike gloomy thoughts. They dislike believing the worst or even unpleasantly. This is a nation of optimists with a long tradition to justify that we are indeed a fortunate people. Also, Americans, with a measure of reason, believe that mechanically and technologically, they are superior to any nation on earth which they show by their high standard of living.

Realism, however, demands that we face the fact that we have a "Cold War" which has protracted itself now for a sufficiently long period to justify taking it seriously, to study its meaning and to assume that our defense must be now. Our situation, but it has failed to prepare the people for it and for the consequences that face us. After all, in our kind of country, unless the people support the government, it can have no policy and no purpose.

The weakness of the politician is that he still believes that he can both lead a horse to water and make him drink. The course of events since 1945 shows that Americans can be apathetic about their own country when they lose confidence in the leadership of government.

We are at war. The Cold War is costly in wealth, in time, and its consequences may be devastating. It is not as costly in human life as a shooting war. But should be the Cold War we might lose our national existence or we might be forced to fight a shooting war too late for it to be to our advantage. The planners believe, however, that they are now reaching the time when the non-Soviet world recognizes the perils we face and therefore the kind of coalition is possible which may save us. Their calculations are based on the assumption that the Soviet side is making and will make as many mistakes as our side does and that if mistakes are balanced there is still hope.

What we need is the kind of candor which is rare among political leaders. Our prospect of success against the Soviet world depends upon our technological advance. They must not catch up to us, because if they do, or if they pass us, we shall be defeated without battle.

It therefore becomes necessary for us to undertake basic steps to meet this situation:

1. It will require a total reorganization of our educational procedures and facilities from the primary school to post graduate work in the university. We cannot afford the waste of funds and efforts. Our educators must get down to bed rock, teaching hard courses and requiring students to get good marks for hard work, and throwing out all others who can find other work to do. Unless we keep up our educational system, we shall not be producing enough thinkers to make it possible for us to have a chance. This requires not only knowledge but honesty of purpose.

2. We need to rearrange and coordinate our various government, Federal, state and municipal, to cut out all waste. We have no room for waste. We have no time for wastrels. The politicians who cannot adjust to government without waste, without graft and corruption and the nonsense that is called "politics," are doing immense damage to this country. We are not rich any longer and cannot afford to pay the fancy bills which the politicians charge us for letting them govern us.

3. We need to fight inflation at home so that we are not defeated by our own means. The cost of government, of living, of schooling, of everything is so high and is rising so rapidly that the value of the American dollar is diminishing at home and abroad. It is that diminishing value of the dollar that gives our enemy an advantage over us. It is necessary for government to meet that situation even if it means restoring controls. An honest statement by the President to the people, well-documented, will save heartaches later. President Eisenhower can do it without such risks as politicians do not like to take. After all, he can never stand for re-election and need not fear the political consequences of the truth. (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Neuralgia of Facial Nerve Is One of Most Painful Ailments

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

It is difficult to compare one pain with another. If one has a toothache NOW it generally seems worse than an earache in the past. However, there are degrees of pain, and that which accompanies the first disease discussed is undoubtedly one of the worst.

Q—The doctors say I have tic douloureux and I suffer untold agony. I have had three nerve blocks, but with little relief. At present I am taking shots, but they don't help much. The doctors say I will have to have the nerve clipped, but only as a last resort. Can you discuss this?
A—This is a kind of neuralgia involving what is called the facial nerve, which is one of the nerves coming directly out of the brain. The cause is not known, but it does produce virtually intolerable pain.

Most of my neurosurgical friends recommend conservative—that is, nonsurgical—treatment before attempting major surgery. The latter carries some risks of course, but I believe that if I had tic douloureux and found the pain so bad, I would urge my neurosurgeon to operate promptly in spite of the risks.

Q—How is it possible to have adhesions in the upper right quadrant when one never had an operation? Please tell me what a quadrant is.—G. F.

A—The term quadrant is merely a convenience used by physicians in dividing the area of the abdomen into four portions. The upper right quadrant, therefore, means the upper right quarter of the abdomen.

Adhesions can occur as a result of inflammation as well as from operation. In other words, inflammation around the appendix or the gall bladder, for example, can lead to adhesions, even though surgery had not been performed.

Q—Can diabetes cause severe headaches and blurred vision and dizziness?—W. C.

A—Complications of diabetes involve the eye. I am less certain about the headaches and dizziness as being a complication of diabetes.

However, if present, diabetes should be brought under prompt control by diet and insulin, if necessary. Other possible causes for these symptoms should be investigated.

Q—Is it true that eating the pulp and skin from citrus fruits will provide anticoagulant qualities which are good for a heart condition?—Mrs. P.

A—Citrus skin and pulp will not delay the coagulating time of the blood. Even if it did, it certainly would not be good for all kinds of heart disease. A more scientifically based treatment is in order.

Q—When I had an operation for hiatus hernia the surgeon removed one of my ribs. Will this rib grow back?—Miss F.

A—To the best of my knowledge the rib probably will not grow back, but will be replaced by scar tissue. I understand that some experimental work has been done which indicates that the rib will regenerate if the area is surrounded by material which prevents scar tissue from growing in.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS—Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

"He's Not Cooperating---He Won't Stand Still"

Washington News

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The day of the 80-billion-dollar U. S. budget is here. But the bigger news is that you may be seeing 100-million-dollar budgets by 1970 or even earlier.

The reason: Not war or the threat of war, but the growing never-satisfied appetite of Americans—who in turn are ever more numerous—for more and better programs and services.

People are demanding highways, hospitals, schools, aids to farmers, renewal of slum-ridden cities. A maturing population compels steadily heavier social security outlays.

Many of these demands already are built into the law. Federal expenditures for them will rise inescapably as our population vaults toward 200 million and the economy presses to higher levels.

QUITE A FEW MEN in and around government felt the World War II peak outlay of 98.4 billion dollars in 1945 never would be touched again except in another dire emergency.

The outlook now, however, is that within a generation after that seemingly fantastic burst of spending, the 100-billion-dollar budget will be a commonplace of our daily lives.

You get this picture from specialists who are giving hard effort toward fixing the pattern and prospect of the nation's long-range financial affairs.

Despite the fact that national security eats up nearly 60 per cent of annual U. S. government spending, they see the decisive pressures coming down from the civilian field. Nondefense expenditures in the last decade have climbed 50 per cent (after correcting for price advances).

Reinforcing their view is the record of experience, showing that Americans, through their government, tend to use available federal revenue resources to the hilt. When revenues mount they are speedily devoured.

A PRONOUNCED FEELING exists that the upward pressures can't be wholly contained and that much of the generally gradual advance in spending is in fact inescapable in a country growing so enormously in numbers of people and economic activity.

It is argued, too, that normally our expanding economy will give us a yearly federal revenue lift of around three billion dollars, a cushion which can absorb rising outlays and let us avoid either steep tax hikes or colossal deficits.

This year's projected huge 12-billion-dollar deficit reflects the shrunken receipts of recession, and antirecession spending.

Even with full recovery and renewed growth, however, chances for heavy surpluses are rated dim. Yet at least one expert refused to worry. Said he: "Surpluses may be the worst thing that can happen to us."

They used to be a warm comfort. The record shows they're an invitation to spend.

SOME SAY IT MAY REALLY BE BETTER to skim close to the water line—or a little below. The argument is this: Forces government to hold expenses tighter, to re-examine programs, to make some things largely self-supporting through "user" taxes, to encourage private and state-local efforts as alternatives.

Other restraints: Fear in Congress of inflation, and of imposing new taxes, especially in voting season.

Belief is that all these checks will persistently block any spending runaway. Yet they amount to running to stay in the game.

The upward push goes on with little halt. Only modest tax cuts, useful now and then to help force federal saving, are considered likely. General economy broadens have slight effect.

Commented a seasoned specialist: "The economists always spread their fire. Advocates of added spending pinpoint theirs. The rifle shot wins every time."

He and others see nothing ahead but more and more rifle shots finding their mark more often. But they insist that a well-peppered government target, with the bulls-eye reading 100 billion dollars is something we can and must live with in this era of staggering American expansion.

So They Say..

Q—What is smog?
A—Smog is a combination of smoke and fog.

Q—What is the origin of the word cannibal?
A—Spanish discoverers at the time of Columbus found that the custom of eating other human beings existed among the Caribs, a West Indian tribe. From the Spanish "Caribel" came the modern word.

Q—Who was the youngest U. S. President to die?
A—James A. Garfield, who died at the age of 49.

Q—What type of shoe is named for a Prussian field marshal?
A—The blucher.

The Muumuu

HONOLULU (AP) — Norman Hartnell, dress designer for British royalty, was asked during a visit here his opinion of the Hawaiian muumuu—the floor-length, shapeless gown descended from the Mother Hubbards of missionary days. Why Not 'All-Free Europe,' Not Just a 'Free' Berlin?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Berlin's crisis provides the opportunity of a lifetime. The Communists demand that Berlin be made a "free city." The key word is "free," but the idea back of that word is too good to be limited to just one city. Why not an "all-free Europe?"

To make only one city "free" is no solution. It only compounds existing problems.

The Communists sit up late at night thinking up schemes with which to worry the Western Allies. Mostly these are adventures in propaganda. The Soviets even boldly pose among their own people as "liberators" in other lands.

In America there still is a certain timidity about using the word "liberation." John Foster Dulles mentioned it in his speeches during the 1952 Presidential campaign and has not been forgiven by his critics.

Peaceful Liberation
He insisted that he meant "peaceful liberation," but the Soviets managed with considerable assistance from certain partisans in America, to make it appear that America planned to use military force to effect "liberation."

But notwithstanding the vicissitudes that the concept of "liberation" has experienced in circles where the word betrays a sense of fear, there is merit in urging the abandonment of the "status quo" in Eastern Europe. This theme has been championed in various pronouncements of policy by the United States government, but the secret of successful propaganda is iteration and reiteration, especially at the psychological moment.

Today, for instance, when the Soviets have so deliberately, even if hypocritically, put the accent on Berlin as a "free city," the time is opportune for a broad discussion of freedom for Eastern Europe.

If a four-power conference can get the limelight on this issue, so much the better. It would be an impressive way to remind the people of the Soviet Union itself that freedom is still something they, too, may hope for some day.

Certainly the Western Allies are in a position to insist now that not only East Germany but Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania be given the status of "free cities." Their could be a transition period during which, under United Nations auspices, a plan for withdrawal eventually of all foreign troops could be offered. The peoples of each country could be given the chance to conduct free elections and decide for themselves what military aid they need.

If countries which are truly free want foreign troops to remain on their soil, as the people of West Germany have chosen, this can be accepted as a basic principle. But every one knows that not one of the "satellite" states has had uncoerced voting and that each country in the Soviet orbit has against its will been occupied by military forces commanded by Moscow.

The importance of Western ground troops in Central Europe to ward off an attack by the Soviets has lately been minimized by those who think long-range missiles will make land forces unnecessary anyhow. But with the emphasis coming nowadays from Moscow on avoiding the use of nuclear weapons altogether, ground troops take on added military value.

In recent months the Soviets aided and abetted unwittingly by some erratic philosophers on the Western side, have been urging the withdrawal of all troops—Soviet and Western—from Europe and the abandonment of the air bases of the United States there. But from the Soviet viewpoint this is a cover-up for continued rule by the Communist apparatus. Each nation that is really free should have the right to determine for itself what military protection it needs and wants against a potential invader.

A crusade for freedom throughout Europe by liberating the Eastern "satellite" countries is one that could well engage the attention of the United States and its allies. They stand for true freedom without any military domination whatsoever. The smaller nations know the Soviets would never take the initiative in giving them freedom. The whole problem, if approached from this standpoint of extending the principle of a "free city" in Berlin to encompass all of Eastern Europe, would put the Soviets on the defensive in the propaganda battles of the day. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The "revolution" which Mrs. Roosevelt sometimes refers to with a sweetness more disturbing than beguiling seems to be a Fascist-Proletarian development. The characteristics are plainer day by day. In dealing with unique movements in history, we have to use old labels until developments give existence to new and permanent terms. "Fascist" comes handy here as a provisional title for Mrs. Roosevelt's revolution because that revolution has been taken up with exuberant zeal by many millionaires, foremost among them her own late husband. At least a thousand millionaires can be counted in the fold to the left of "center" and that is why I regard this as a Fascist sort of revolution rather than as the straight, Red Marxian terror which started all this in St. Petersburg in 1917. Most of us forget that Mussolini's Fascism was numerically more proletarian than capitalist. It was a great popular movement. Mussolini was an idol.

And the fact that millions of the lower economic classes, the common man as the Roosevelt movement called the American citizen, have joined this American revolution only rounds out the similarity to "Mussolini's" Roosevelt, too, was a leader in the same sense but to a lesser degree. His wife seriously called him our "elected ruler."

Later, history may call all this by some other name but now it is Fascism. The popular opinion of millionaires holds that they cherish their money above all else but vulgar political bosses further indicates that the Roosevelt revolution is fascism, not Bolshevism.

Kelly and Hague and Pendergast, Curley and Guffey and Wagner the elder, all stood a good chance of liquidation by a Soviet, Marxian, atheistic regime. Five are dead and gone and Guffey is politically extinct, but those men were not in any way congenial with the Muscovites of the New York focus although all sorts were uneasily associated in the smear on the slide as the mystery unfolded.

Nevertheless, this is revolution. The next few years will show that the Constitution is really the most versatile scripture ever composed.

It is capable of anything and everything. Literally, it can be truly and soberly construed to justify solitary confinement in Alcatraz forever of all infidels who express contempt for the Supreme Court or any district judge of the federal system.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "There is an awful lot of tightrope walking in the world today," said Ogden Nash.

"There are so many sore toes that a humorist can't help stepping on a few."

When he was 10 and his older sister was about to be married, Nash composed an ode long cherished by his family. It began:

"The beautiful spring at last is here,
And has taken my sister I sadly fear."

Tops in Light Verse

Some 46 years, 50,000 published lines, and a million chuckles later, Nash is widely rated as America's most successful writer of light verse.

His 13 books—the latest is, "You Can't Get There From Here"—have sold nearly two million copies. With the possible exception of Robert Frost, he probably is the only well known American author who has made a living in the last quarter century from verse.

"I'm something of a freak," he admitted. "I've been lucky."

But even Nash has found it advisable to toil part-time in other vineyards. He lectures, has done two stints in Hollywood, written lyrics for Broadway shows, appeared as a TV panelist.

His latest television assignment was to write the lyrics for six songs for "Peter and the Wolf," starring Art Carney and presented Sunday over the ABC-TV network.

"The only love song was sung by a near-sighted dog to a duck under the impression she was a water spaniel," he said.

Offbeat Mind

This kind of chore delights the offbeat mind of Nash, master of the kind of outrageous rhymes that tickle modern readers but give traditional poets a desire to beat their heads against a wall.

"I think in terms of rhyme, and have since I was six years old," he said.

He once almost fell in love with a lady named Mrs. Blorange. She fascinated him because of the similarity of her name to orange which, like the words silver and pilgrim, have no dictionary rhymes.

Real Craftsman

Nash began his career composing streetcar card ads at $100 a month for a firm which previously had employed F. Scott Fitzgerald in this task.

"I never wrote a car card that appeared in New York City," he said. "Just places like Chillicothe, Ohio."

Nash, a soft-voiced, hazel-eyed six footer with an habitual expression of absent-minded inquiry, is a painstaking craftsman. He turns out only one or two verses a week now, writing in pencil on sheets of yellow paper.

"I work at home because there are so many interruptions there," he remarked. "I like interruptions."

Neither the ideas nor the rhymes come easily. Writing is still hard work to him.

"The Lord doesn't usually deliver everything to you in one package as a rule," he observed dryly.

Although he has strong doubts his verses have enduring literary quality — "fashions in humor change as in everything else," he believes "anything that is to last more than five years has to be more than merely clever."

"I like to think that behind my work there is a consistent individual point of view toward life—something more than just jokes and odd rhymes."

His viewpoint?

Adjustment Necessary

"This is our world, and we're locked in it," he said, "and we have to learn to survive together, whether we love or admire each other or not. We must adjust to each other."

Asked if he felt any of his verse had done any enduring good for the human race, Nash, a highly unpretentious man, smiled and nominated the following lines, the most widely reprinted of all he has written:

"I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree.
Perhaps, unless the billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all."

Ithaca Resident New President of College Registrars

ATLANTIC CITY N. J. (AP)—Herbert H. Williams of Ithaca, N. Y., is the new president of the Middle States Assn. of Collegiate Registrars and Officers of Admission.

He was elected at a meeting Saturday to succeed Catherine R. Rich of Washington, D. C.

The election was held during the 72nd annual convention of the Middle States Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Several affiliated units held meetings in conjunction with that of the parent association.

In other elections: Winton Tolles of Clinton, N. Y., was elected to the executive committee of the Eastern Assn. of College Deans and Advisors of Students.

Dr. Rollo E. Wicks of Canton, N. Y., was re-elected treasurer of the Junior Council of the Middle Atlantic States.

Brother Benjamin Benedict of Riverdale, N. Y., was re-elected secretary of the National Catholic Education Assn., Secondary School Department, Eastern Region.

An Initial Loss

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—William T. Brooks was running for re-election to the State Corporation Commission. He was worried about one rival in particular—William A. Brooks—because of the confusion caused by similar names. To emphasize the difference in the middle initials, he passed out campaign cards featuring a large "T" on the other side was a little tea bag. Came the primary—and Brooks lost. So did the other Brooks, A. P. Buzard won in a close race.

The 20 per cent of income, pay-as-you-go tax bill was signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on June 10, 1943.

Urges 4-H Club Members to Keep Basic Principle

CHICAGO (AP) — Raymond C. Firestone told 4-H Club members today to retain the organization's basic principles and philosophy.

If the organization's basic tenets remain unchanged, the head of The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. forecast 4-H's doubled growth — to 40 million members.

"The most important 4-H principles," Firestone said in a talk for a 4-H Club leaders' breakfast at the organization's 37th national 4-H Club Congress, "are to work and win on your own, to learn that competition and cooperation can exist side by side, to have respect for advice and leadership and to build character."

Florence M. Young, of the University of Georgia, stressed in another talk the necessity of 4-H Club leaders understanding young people and their problems.

"One of the great needs of the teen-ager is to become increasingly independent," she said. "This is difficult because financially the youth is still dependent, or partly so, upon his parents. At times, this problem threatens to create a chasm between parents and their children. Displaced aggression is quite common in teenagers, and regression, or behaving in a manner which is typical of an earlier stage of development, is noted fairly often in the high school age. Inferiority feelings are very common and clubs have many opportunities to help the youth to reduce or combat these attitudes."

Cadigan Requests No Consideration For Bishop Post

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The Rev. George L. Cadigan has asked that he not be considered for the post of bishop of the Missouri Episcopal Diocese.

The Rev. Mr. Cadigan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church is one of four who have been nominated for the position. An election is scheduled Thursday to pick a successor to the Rt. Rev. Arthur Charles Lichtenberger.

The Rev. Mr. Cadigan said Sunday, "I feel that my work here is not finished; it is the will of God that I stay." Bishop Dudley Scott Stark of Rochester said he agreed with him.

The Rev. Mr. Cadigan, rector here for 10 years, is married and has four children.

BARGAIN BUYS

The prices of most fixed-income securities fluctuate with changes in basic money rates. When money is cheap, security prices are high; when it is costlier, they are low.

Last week in this column, I discussed U. S. Government bond prices, pointing out that individual and fiduciary investors can now buy the highest grade bonds at interesting discounts. Yields on Uncle Sam's obligations can be presently had from 3.61 per cent for short term bonds to 3.81 per cent on long term.

Preferred stock prices are subject to the same money-rate changes as are U. S. Government bond prices. Good grade preferreds are found purchases for conservative investors who wish to put money to use and get good income.

In this article I shall write about the financial affairs of leading corporations having non-callable preferred stocks outstanding. (A non-callable stock is one that the corporation cannot get rid of without permission of the stockholders.) All are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and are, consequently, readily marketable.

United States Steel Corporation, perhaps the world's top-ranking industrial enterprise, has outstanding a non-callable, $7 cumulative preferred that earned $430 a share for the five-year period 1953-1957 inclusive. The per share dividend requirement was $35. Thus, the payment was covered 12 times over. Presently, these shares can be bought at about $145 with a yield in perpetuity of 4.8 per cent. Two years ago these shares sold for $169.

International Harvester, a leading world corporation, has a non-callable $7 preferred. In the same five-year period it earned $291 a share, with the dividend being covered eight times. The stock presently sells for $145. In 1956 it sold as high as $174.

U. S. Rubber has an $8 non-callable stock that investors can buy. In recent years it has earned its dividend six times over. In 1956, these shares sold at $170 each, compared with present prices of about $143. The current yield is 5.5 per cent.

National Biscuit, a top-ranking world corporation, also has outstanding a $7 non-callable preferred stock. For the five years, 1953-1957, it earned $396 a share compared with dividend requirements of $35. In 1956, this stock sold for $179 a share. It is now around $152.

Finally, there is the non-callable $7 preferred of American Smelting and Refining, selling at around $141 to yield almost 5 per cent in perpetuity. It earns its dividend almost eight times over. Two years ago, the stock sold at $174 a share.

Thus, under the impact of more costly money, these shares have declined in price in two years as much as $33 a share.

The Federal Reserve Banks are charging 2½ per cent a year to their borrowers. In recent months, it was 1½ per cent. The impact of these higher rates has influenced bond and preferred stock prices. If, in 1959 or 1960, money rates were lowered, these preferred stock prices would advance.

The Forum

(Q)—"I have just had $10,000 come to me from maturing 2½ per cent bonds. I need more income badly. What should I buy?"—W.E.B.

(A)—"You might buy two or three of the preferreds mentioned here. Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper."

Rate Increase Is

added income would have to be set aside for Federal income taxes. He stated further, "We have been able to hold our electricity rates at their present level since 1951. In the meantime we have been faced with increasing costs for materials, supplies, labor, taxes and everything that goes into the cost of carrying on our business. The time has now come when the effects of this continued inflation must be reflected in the rates charged for our service."

"The company has made every effort to combat rising costs through rigid control of its operating expenses, the installation of highly efficient electric generating plants and the use of mechanized construction equipment. However, we alone cannot control many of the factors which have driven our costs upward. Under the circumstances we now find it essential to apply for a moderate increase in our rates so that we may continue to render good service at the lowest rates consistent with the payment of reasonable wages and of an adequate return on the capital required to finance our business."

W. Berlin Has New Promise From U. S. To Guard Freedom

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Communist-threatened West Berlin has a new pledge from President Eisenhower that its freedom will be safeguarded by the United States. The pledge that the United States intends to meet that responsibility, shared by Britain and France, was reaffirmed by the President after he and Secretary of State Dulles discussed the Berlin situation at an hourlong conference Sunday.

They talked at the Augusta National Golf Club as Eisenhower made plans to end his working vacation Tuesday and fly back to Washington. His 13-day visit started Nov. 20.

Faces Budget Task

Back in the capital the President will face the task of completing the legislative program and the federal budget he will send to the new Congress in January.

Eisenhower and Dulles almost certainly discussed countermeasures the Western Allies plan to take to keep the Soviet Union from dominating West Berlin. But they kept mum afterward about the strategy.

In a brief statement after the meeting Dulles said: "The President reiterated our government's firm purpose that the United States will not enter into any arrangement or embark on any course of conduct which would have the effect of abandoning the responsibilities which Britain and France, has formally assumed for the freedom and security of the people of West Berlin."

Fresh Rejection

That in effect was a fresh rejection of The Soviet Union's Thanksgiving Day proposal for creation of a demilitarized "free" city of West Berlin. Moscow at the same time declared void the four-power occupation agreement for Berlin which was reached after World War II.

The Soviet note on its plan gave the western powers six months to enter into negotiation for establishment of a free city. The Russians added that failure to do so would put the plan into effect automatically at the end of that period.

The swift U. S. reaction was that Russia was proposing to keep its grip on East Berlin and have the western allies abandon their rights in West Berlin.

The State Department said the end result of the plan would be to surrender West Berlin to hostile domination.

Mother and Twins Injured in Mishap East of Palenville

A New York City mother and her twin son and daughter were admitted to Benedictine Hospital Saturday afternoon with injuries suffered in a one-car mishap on Route 32A just east of Palenville.

The two 13-year-old children, John and Claire Grogan, were treated and discharged.

Mrs. Alicia Grogan, 44, was reported in fair condition today by hospital authorities.

Trooper David Wachtel of the Kingston state police reported that Mrs. Grogan suffered fractures of the right clavicle and right wrist, contusions of the scalp and face and possible internal injuries. John had a broken right wrist and numerous lacerations of the body. Claire a fracture of the left humerus, severe lacerations of the scalp and abrasions of the right arm and both legs.

Wachtel said Mrs. Grogan was negotiating a left curve when the car went out of control on an icy road, went off the right shoulder, swung back across the highway and went off the left shoulder, smashing into a tree. The 1949 sedan was described as a total wreck. Time of mishap was 1:15 p. m.

Historic Old

of the founding of the Old Dutch Church on Sept. 12, 1659. Representatives of almost 40 churches which have "descended" from the Kingston church will be invited to participate.

Thanksgiving Day

A "Thanksgiving Day" celebration is planned for June—the weekend of the 7th. An effort will be made to bring back to Kingston members of the church who have moved from the area.

It is explained that Gov. Peter Stuyvesant proclaimed June 7 as Kingston's Thanksgiving Day back in the 17th Century.

It was on that day that men, women and children captured by the Indians in the Second Esopus War were liberated by the settlers.

The church choir will present "Elijah" in April and a historical pageant will be presented some time during the year.

Plans Souvenirs

Charles M. Rinschler, chairman of the memento committee, is making available various souvenir items, such as bon-bon dishes, Wedgwood commemorative plates, 35 millimeter color slides, etc. Persons interested in obtaining souvenirs may order through the church office.

Mrs. Herbert Johnson, chairman of the church and grounds beautification committee, recently directed the planting of some 5,000 tulip bulbs on the grounds of the church. Mrs. Johnson is also serving as liaison between the church and the city committee for the 350th Hudson-Champlain Celebration.

Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool, wife of the minister, is chairman of the pageant committee. Miss Marcia Clark is serving as liaison between the 300th anniversary committee and other committees of the church. Robert Brainerd is treasurer and Miss Dorothy DuMont, secretary.

Begin Dog Census

Two local patrolmen today began the annual dog census canvass. Officer Edward Ortleib is taking the census in the uptown area and Officer James Scott is covering downtown. The city's canine population in the past two years has been slightly above 2,000.

News Delivery Union Resumes Publisher Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—The newspaper and mail deliverers union resumed negotiations on new contract today—on a new contract and on delivery of newspapers to Long Island.

The union's present contract expires at midnight Sunday. The union has voted to strike then if no agreement has been reached with the New York City Publishers Assn.

The delivery dispute has halted most newsstand distribution of six New York City dailies and the Long Island Press in Nassau and Suffolk counties.

The union filed a complaint Sunday night with an appeals board established by contract between the association and the union.

The complaint accused the association of violating its contract with the union by attempting to change its method of delivery on Long Island without the board's approval.

The complaint also charged that the association conspired to "willfully and knowingly deprive employees in the industry of the rights and benefits to which they were entitled."

Aschel Schwartz, attorney for the union, said the association tried to switch its Long Island distribution from the Rockaway News Co. to the Woodhaven Co. and the Weinberg Co. without notifying the board.

A union boycott has blocked the switch and idled 150 employees. The city papers involved are the Times, the Herald Tribune, the Mirror, the World-Telegram and Sun, the Journal-American and the Post. The Daily News has its own distribution system.

Last Friday the association filed a damage suit against the union. It charged that the refusal to deliver the papers constituted an unlawful strike that cost publishers an estimated $250,000 a day.

Schwartz said the union's complaint, if turned down by the appeals board, might reach the courts as a countersuit.

44 Die

Albany 13, Buffalo and Syracuse 17, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie 17.

Western New York was hardest hit but there was snow and high winds in most Upstate sections.

At Syracuse, 16 inches of snow fell and many secondary roads in the area were closed during the night.

9 Below at Boonville

There were 25 inches of new snow at Boonville and that Adirondack community reported a temperature of 9 degrees below zero Sunday. It was 3 below at Salisbury in northern Herkimer County.

Roads clogged in the Saturday storm were opened but many remained hazardous because of ice or packed-snow surfaces.

The hardest hit section of the Thruway was 125 miles between Buffalo and the Pennsylvania line. The speed limit was dropped 20 miles an hour for a time on the stretch between Hamburg and Pennsylvania.

About 12 inches of snow fell in Chautauque, Cattaraugus and Wyoming counties and parts of Genesee.

The storms, which tapered off into light flurries Sunday were a major factor in most of the highway deaths over the holiday. In a non-holiday, four-day period two weeks ago, traffic accidents took 25 lives and 7 persons died in other types of accidents.

The count of accidental deaths for the holiday was made between 6 p. m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

Keating's Daughter To Wed Next Spring

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. Senator-elect and Mrs. Kenneth B. Keating have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith Depuy Keating, and James E. Howe, of New York City.

Miss Keating assisted her father in his successful campaign. She is a graduate of Vassar. Howe, a graduate of Williams, is associated with J. P. Morgan Co. The wedding will be held here in late spring.

Financial and Commercial

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved up again today, adding fractions to about a point in active dealings. Some stocks had much wider gains.

Prices were higher at the opening with big blocks changing hands. As the market fought upward it encountered plenty of opposition. Prices have not quite recovered completely from the recent break.

Aircraft issues were in demand at one time following the successful firing of the Atlas weapon. General Dynamics rose around two points and North American one.

Two in Critical Condition After Goshen Mishap

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—Two persons remained in critical condition today from injuries suffered when two cars collided after a skid on a snowy road south of here.

Still in critical condition from the accident last Friday were Mrs. Pauline Dalinski, 43, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Becky Dalinski, her 80-year-old mother-in-law. Franklin Rothe, 36, of Paterson, N. J., who had been listed as in critical condition, was reported improved.

Seven others who were hurt were reported in good condition. Among them was Rothe's wife, Shirley, 31, whose legs and an arm were fractured.

Police said a car driven by Maurice Dalinski skidded on Route 17, crossed a center strip and smashed head-on into the car driven by Rothe.

Hurley Meeting Set to Discuss '59 Celebration

A discussion of plans for Hurley's contribution to the Hudson-Champlain celebration in 1959 will be held Tuesday, 8 p. m. in Hurley Reformed Church. Everyone is invited to attend.

Albert C. Kurdt, manager of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, and Uister County chairman of the celebration will attend as a guest speaker with Harry Rigby Jr., a member of the New York State committee.

Has Stone Houses
A spokesman for the committee planning the meeting pointed out that Hurley with its 25 early colonial stone houses and heritage can add much to the local observance of New York State's Year of History.

"Then, too, Hurley can be proud of its cultural inheritance from the many who passed through our gates toward the unsettled frontier, and of its bluestone which beautifies many structures in our state. We were not only host to General George Washington, but we also housed the first state government when it shifted from Kingston after that city was burned. Hurley also housed the Council of Safety, and became the temporary quarters of Governor Clinton and his army," the spokesman said.

"How many of our neighbors realize that Hurley on the Esopus received its name from Hurley on the Thames back in the year 1669? Prior to that date the settlement was frequently referred to as New Dorp," he said.

"It happened when Governor Francis Lovelace's commissioners chose to compliment him by naming a newly located village, Hurley, after the home of Lovelace's ancestry on the Thames.

Cites Early History
"Hurley's early history is full of excitement and frustrations. It is interesting to note that some of the leading citizens of our community in the exercise of the right of petition were arrested and indicted as rioters and disturbers of the peace. This type of action against our people by Governor Thomas Dongan brought about a bitterness that the early inhabitants of Hurley never forgot."

"Ninety-two years later, the descendants of Hurley's forefathers, remembering the injustices accumulated over these years, almost to the last person enlisted their efforts on the side of the right of free men in the Revolutionary War," the spokesman said.

Adenauer Meeting
broken rail was the cause of the delay, and American officers said they were satisfied the delay was not caused deliberately.

Engines on the military trains are manned by East German crews but there is an American commandant. West Berlin's rail, road and water links with West Germany cross 110 miles of East German territory and would be subject to East German control if the Soviet Union drops its duties as one of the four occupation powers in Berlin.

Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's Communist party boss, said in an interview with the New York Times over the weekend that the Western powers would be in for "unnecessary difficulties" if they tried to use these supply lines without East Germany's permission.

Cites Orders
Gen. H. I. Hodes, commander of the U. S. Army in Europe, said on a visit that his 4,000-man force here had orders to deal with "any infringement of West Berlin." Any interference with the air, rail or highway supply lines would be regarded as "an infringement of our rights," he declared.

The West Berlin garrison was ready for any trouble, he said, adding, "We have plans for anything except going to the moon."

Change Shortage
TOKYO (AP)—Japanese storekeepers don't like the new 10,000 yen—$27.77—notes issued today. Most neighborhood stores said they don't carry sufficient small denomination bills to make change.

The new notes were printed mainly for banks, insurance companies and high-bracket income people. But some are circulating in the ordinary channels of trade.

Po'keepsie Youth Lost in Woods Is Found by Party

A 17-year-old Poughkeepsie hunter, separated from his companions early Saturday afternoon in the Yeagerville section near the border of the towns of Denning and Wawarsing, spent a cold night in the rugged countryside but came through in apparently good shape.

Marshall Truex Jr., was found about 4:20 a. m. Sunday by Cpl. N. G. Lecakes of the Ellenville state police, Arthur Matthews of Bronxville and Jack Landers of 44 Boulevard, Kingston.

He was wandering at the time about four miles from the Sundown road.

Lecakes said young Truex was cold but otherwise in good condition.

He was returned to the home of Cliff Warren of Yeagerville whence young Truex, his father and a group of companions had departed Saturday to hunt deer. His father was reported to have searched for the boy day and night and was in a state of exhaustion.

Young Truex had last been seen entering the woods on the Sundown road about 1 p. m. Saturday.

A troop car was driven to the area about 2 a. m. and the siren sounded intermittently. A number of parties composed of area residents and campers, searched the rugged terrain during the night. Among these were Trooper William Shurtler of the Ellenville state police and Game Protector Roger Fredenburgh.

Lecakes said they found the ashes of a fire the youth had built and tracked him through the snow. He said Truex went in "big circles." He still had his deer rifle when found.

600 Travelers Are
she said, was zero. "The snow was blowing, I couldn't see and I couldn't turn around. You just didn't know where you were going."

Like North Pole
"It was like driving into the North Pole region. There was no sign of a track or anything. I don't know why they let me on the Thruway."

Thruway officials said the super-highway was kept open for an emergency route, since most other roads were impassable.

Troopers said most of the cars in trouble simply drove off the pavement without knowing it and got stuck. Others ran out of gas in the slow going.

No Bad Accidents
They said there were no serious accidents, however, and everyone found shelter.

Troopers patrolled the 125-mile stretch, rescuing people from stalled cars.

Sunday, the troopers put together one list of the 200 cars stuck on the Thruway and began matching it with the owners, who had spent the night scattered all along the highway.

When car and owner matched, a trooper drove the motorists to the car, had it towed out of the ditch if necessary and sent them on their way.

"We are tired, tired, tired," said one Sunday night after he and his fellow-troopers had worked 36 hours with only short rest periods for naps.

Reports Bomb on Plane
DALLAS (AP)—A man called Delta Airlines Sunday night and said, "I think you ought to know there is a bomb on your 7:30 flight to New Orleans."

Police and FBI agents searched the plane, delaying it about an hour, but no bomb was found.

Friday night a nearly identical call grounded four Braniff Airways planes, but no bomb was found.

Two egg whites will measure about one quarter of a cup.

Woodstock Man Held For Reckless Driving

William Avery Thurston, 45, of Box 552, Woodstock, was arrested on Route 28 at Stony Hollow at 4:30 a. m. today on a charge of reckless driving after his car left the road and smashed into a tree.

Thurston was treated at Kingston Hospital for a cut on the forehead.

The arrest was by Deputy Sheriff Ernest Longyear and Thomas Mayone of the Ulster County sheriff's office.

They reported that Thurston failed to negotiate a right curve, left the road on the right side, then swung back across the four-lane highway, plunging off the left side and into a tree.

He was issued a summons returnable before Justice of the Peace Alton Boyce of West Hurley at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Calendar Change

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's day of rest this week has been changed—by official decree—from Sunday to Saturday. Moscow Radio reported the Cabinet decision today. Only reason given was that of "meeting the wishes of the working people."

Story in Pictures of New Cement Plant at Steep Rocks

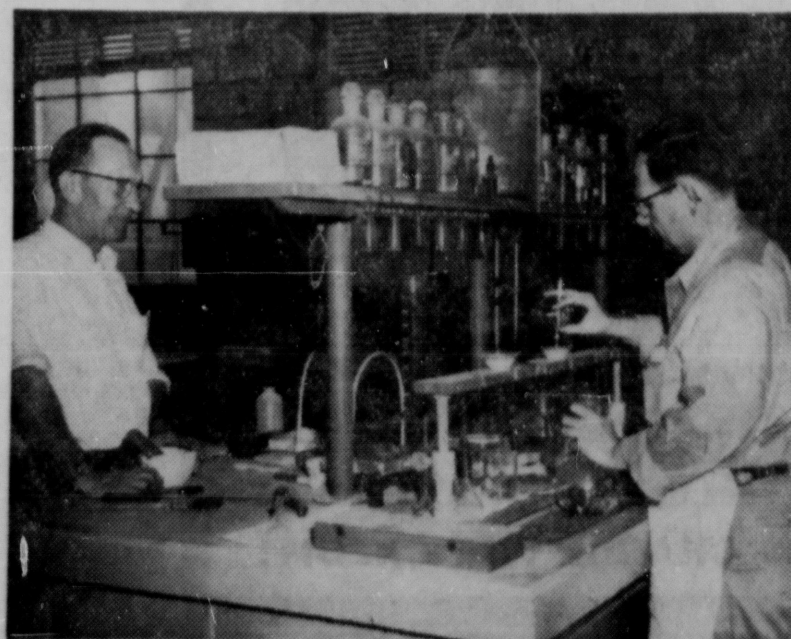

CEMENT LOADING FROM SILOS—Kingston's newest industry, Hudson Cement Corp., North Street went into full production recently and shipped out its first order of finished cement. Loading of railroad bottle cars (above) is from a group of nine silos situated on the special rail spur to the plant. All cement is sold in bulk and shipped either by river barges or freight cars. Silos are filled by feeder pipes linking them with the finishing mill nearby. (Freeman photos)

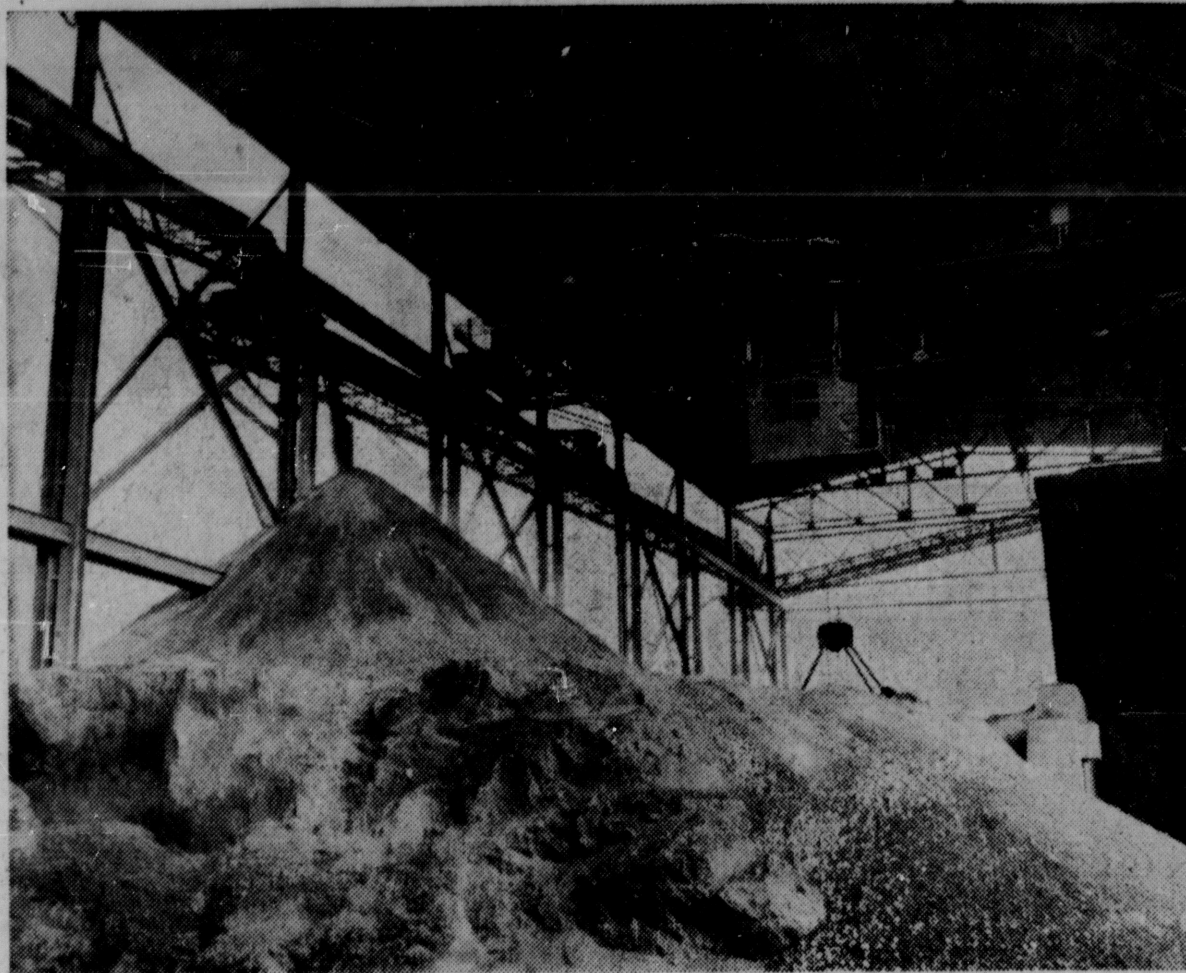

CLINKER EXIT—The discharge end of the rotary cooler (above) feeds the processed clinker into the storage shed where it is picked up and conveyed by overhead traveling crane, and fed into the finishing mill hopper. Clinker and gypsum is pulverized in the finishing mill nearby for the manufacture of the finished product. Raw materials—stone and clay—are drawn from the firm's property in the immediate vicinity of the plant. The kiln, 11 foot in diameter, is fed limestone, clay and other materials, and under a heating process becomes clinker after cooling. The material called slurry is propelled by gravity and the rotating action of the entire 350 foot kiln to the discharge end.

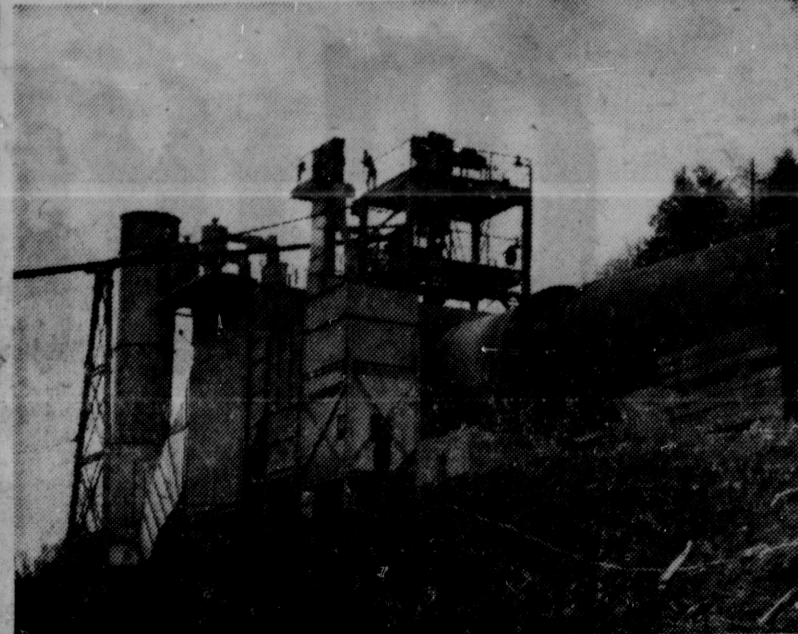

AIR SLIDE CONVEYOR—One of the first orders shipped from the plant is loaded on a covered deck barge anchored at the company dock on the Hudson River. Loading is by air slide conveyor from the silos. Railroad hopper and bottle cars are loaded from silos located over railroad spur line into the plant. A spokesman at the plant said the grounds around the plant will eventually be cleaned up, access roads within the plant paved, and grass planted in open area.

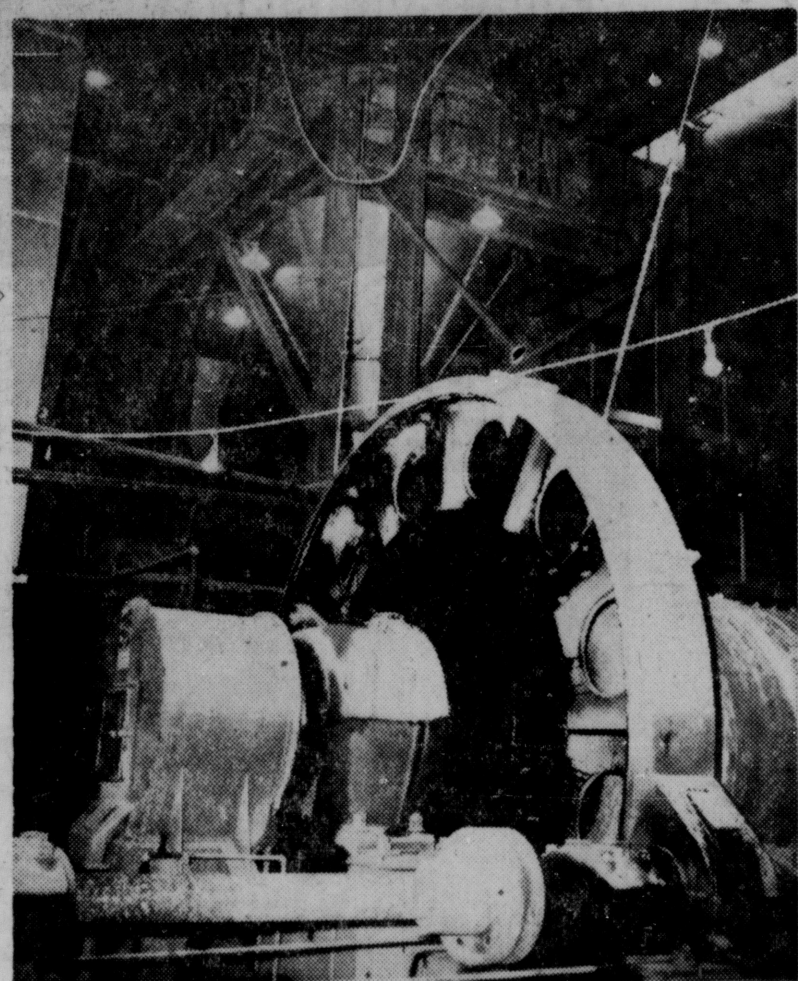

QUALITY CONTROL—Samples of each batch of finished cement are sent to the laboratory located in the building housing the cement company offices. Chemical and physical tests are made at this point to be sure all shipments meet the accepted standards. Donald Snell (left), chief chemist, and Samuel Sulfridge, assistant chemist make the tests.

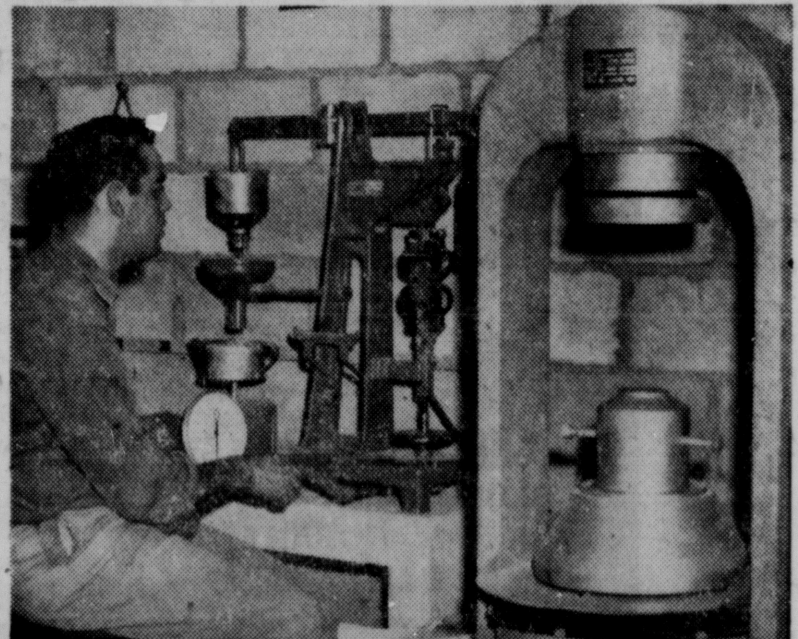

STORAGE SHED—Raw material and clinker are moved from the storage shed by overhead traveling crane to the grinding and finishing mill hoppers. Raw material is fed into the grinding hopper and clinker and gypsum is fed into the finishing hopper. The crane bucket partially hidden in pile of raw material is directed along steel rails on each side of the shed by the operator in the crane cab (center).

KILN DUST COLLECTOR—Mixture basically of limestone and clay is fed through pipe at left to the 350 foot long kiln. Upright cylinder (left) is vent stack for steam released in the process. What appears to be smoke coming from the stack at various times, is actually steam. Photo was taken in the afternoon when plant was in full operation. No dust or smoke is released in the operation due to the electronic filter employed in the precipitating process.

GRINDING AND FINISHING MILL—Both grinding of the raw material (above) in preparation for feeding the kiln, and the finishing mill are housed under the same roof. Limestone from the quarry is pulverized here and carried by overhead pipes to blending tanks which feed the kiln clay and limestone slurry. Clinker and gypsum is fed into the finishing mill to produce the finished product. The manufactured cement is conveyed under air pressure to storage silos by overhead pipe.

TESTING STRENGTH—James Fiore, physical tester, operates equipment for testing tensile strength. Press-type device (right) is used to measure compression strength. A prepared cube of concrete is compressed in the unit in the testing process. According to Robert Green, general manager, the company employs approximately 100 persons.

Will YOUR children come up the hard way?

If something isn't done about the college crisis soon, they may have no choice. For these days many of our colleges are crammed to capacity. By 1967, applications are expected to double. In the face of this phenomenal rise, we're confronted with a growing teacher shortage. Low salaries are driving increasing numbers of qualified people into other fields... and discouraging tomorrow's crop from training for this noble profession.

It's a grim situation. Something must be done about it. Won't you help assure your child the education he deserves? Help the college of your choice now, before it's too late.

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Postmaster Says Christmas Mail To Exceed Record

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said today that he believes the Christmas mail this year will set an all time record, exceeding the two million pieces of mail handled in the pre-holiday season of 1957.

The postmaster expressed his thanks for the excellent response of his "Mail Early" appeal this far, but warns, that only by stepping up all mailing of Christmas packages and greeting cards immediately, can this year's record mail load be processed and delivered before Christmas.

He went on to say, "It's later than you think! We all have a tendency to wait until mid-December comes before giving our Christmas mailings plans much attention; whereas, by taking a little extra care with Christmas mailings right now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones at Christmas time."

The postmaster asks your special cooperation to be sure that your return address and the recipients address is plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Use zone numbers, and it's a good idea to include an extra label inside your packages and to place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the address portion of the label on your packages to prevent defacing in transit.

Parcel Post size and weight limitations vary according to destination. Be sure to ask about them when you go to the Post Office to buy stamps.

Speaking about stamps, the postmaster said, "Use four cent postage on all your Christmas cards. In this way, they will be delivered promptly and forwarded, or returned, if necessary, providing you include your name and address on your Christmas card envelopes." Christmas cards sent first class mail enables you to include handwritten messages; thus, making your Christmas greetings more personal, and by including your name and address on each Christmas card envelope, both you and your friends can keep your mailing lists up-to-date.

Be sure to separate your Christmas cards into two bundles, using free labels that you can get at the Post Office which read "All for local delivery" and "All for out of town delivery."

The postmaster asks the cooperation of all business firms to postpone the mailing of circulars and catalogs until after December 25 to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

Avoid standing in line by mailing your packages and buying your stamps before 10 a. m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m.

Try to mail your Christmas cards for out of town destinations several days in advance of those for local delivery. Those for nearby points should all be mailed by at least a week before Christmas.

Mail your gift packages for distant destinations by December 10 and those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15.

Add a pinch of thyme to ready-prepared clam chowder for an intriguing touch.

'Colonial' Doesn't Have to Mean New England

By KAY SHERWOOD

With the home refurbishing season hitting its stride, forecasts of top colors and style favorites made by the experts months ago now appear in the market place where the homemaker is the judge. Two important forecasts which have met the little woman's approval so enthusiastically they are now called trends are summarized in the picture.

One is the emergence of green as a leading color, a cool and restful change of pace from pallid pastels and the sultry shades of recent seasons. Green, used here to paint a wall, to curtain a window bay, to cushion the chairs, appears as well in wallpapers, rugs, upholstery and drapery fabrics in shades that range from an olive drab to vibrant peacock. Frequent companions to green in color schemes are blue, in a variety of shades, and white.

Another trend is the growing popularity of furniture loosely defined as early American. Early American is a perennial favorite but what is giving it new vitality is the work of talented designers. Rather than restrict their efforts to adaptations of furniture made by early New England colonists they have investigated the regional work of Dutch, German and Swiss colonists and have adapted these to modern homes.

In the dining room above is a latter-day interpretation of Dutch colonists' furniture dating from the New Netherlands settlement in the 17th century. Naturally, designer Henry Warren has changed some dimensions and added certain pieces to answer modern needs but the simple, rustic and comfortable appearance preserves the original feeling. Reflecting the Dutch delight in color and painted rather than carved decorations, many of the pieces are embellished by a silk-screen process in a blue and rust Dutch tile motif on a beige background.

The sizable collection is in walnut or selected hardwoods in the case of decorated pieces. Touches such as spoon racks on the hutch-topped buffet, exposed H hinges on cabinet doors and spoon feet are typical of the attention given to authentic detail.

Not so historically accurate, perhaps, but important to the 20th century hostess are details such as partitioned silver drawers, sliding shirt trays and adjustable shelf storage in chests and cabinets and separate Lazy Susan servers for the round party tables.

Millionaire Era

By FRANK TRIPP

Having a choice of millionaires is a rare experience for the common man. It could happen only in America, and did; in the richest state, with the mostest and cleanest plucked taxpayers.

It wasn't the first time in New York State. The sires of Nelson Rockefeller's "loyal constituents" started the millionaire era. They ushered the Roosevelt millions into politics 60 years ago. It became a national habit.

Tripp

Trust buster, "big stick," Teddy Roosevelt was first to make the grade. John D. Sr., from whom all Rockefeller blessings were to flow, already was stashing away and giving away millions.

It could happen before there was a welfare state, a 90 per cent income tax bracket to hurdle and a 48-cent dollar—which was lucky for grandson Nelson, and for beneficiaries of the Rockefeller fortune all over the world.

FOR IT HAS been open gun-

C.M. RINSCHLER
INC.
INSURANCE
280 WALL ST. FE 11198

WHEN TEDDY came some 60 years earlier he was greeted with eggs, tomatoes, rocks and insults. To honor the hero of San Juan Hill, there was a Rough Riders' parade. I was one of the teen-agers on a horse.

A rock hit my horse, and many others; some hit Teddy's carriage. A hundred horses stampeded and turned a gala parade into a riotous rodeo of frightened animals and mad Republicans. (Teddy was a Republican—the Bull Moose who bolted and beat Bill Taft.)

Democrats disclaimed responsibility and the disgraceful affair was brushed off as a crank-inspired demonstration against a millionaire presuming to court the favor of the proletariat, hero or no hero. By 1901 the hero was in the White House.

MILLIONAIRE governors became no novelty in New York State. There have been the two Roosevelts, Lehman, Harriman and now Rockefeller. But never until 1958 did two of them fight it out at the polls.

All save Harriman went in like a breeze. The people's attitude toward wealth and fortunes completely changed over the years. John D. Rockefeller or Edward H. Harriman couldn't have been elected dog catcher.

Yet it came to pass that the son of one squeaked in as governor; only to be routed and snowed under by the grandson of the other. Two millionaire New York governors became President. Harriman hoped to Rockefeller says he doesn't—we'll see if it's contagious.

Four New York governors went to the White House; three others tried and failed. Among the losers, and the worst beaten, was a "son of the people," rejected in 1928 by the people themselves, for a California millionaire; albeit, one who earned it himself.

SO THE WORM had turned before F. D. R. and his New Deal. Millionaires are accepted as people. They've been exciting people, the two Roosevelts and Mr. Hoover, certainly a variety trio.

But we'll never know what three defeated New York State governors might have done, as President, about the welfare state and its staggering debt that has put the country in hock during the spendthrift, millionaire era: Charles Emans Hughes, Al Smith and Tom Dewey.

Could it be that America needs some Al Smiths—and some Will Rogers—more than millionaires and sputniks?

All Burned Up

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Glenwood Farms firemen burned down a home after setting it afire several times. The building was abandoned. They set fires in several rooms, then put them out. It was all to train volunteers. When the building finally burned the volunteers engaged in a water fight.

Seek Motor Boat Registration Plan By Legislature

New York State motor boat owners will be required to pay millions in registration fees to the federal government after April 1, 1960 unless the 1959 State Legislature enacts a state motor boat identification plan which meets federal standards.

About 75 per cent of the state's estimated 600,000 motor boat owners would be subject to the new federal regulations.

Assemblyman Charles A. Cusick, chairman of the joint legislative committee on motor boats, said today that failure to take such action at the 1959 session would result in the loss of revenues which could be used to the benefit of pleasure boat owners and operators in New York State.

If an approved New York State plan is adopted, the advantages of the recently enacted federal regulations will be retained. At the same time funds received from state registration fees could be used to pay for needed boating programs in New York instead of going into the federal treasury.

Because of the urgency of the problem, Cusick said he would meet with a newly created subcommittee Sunday afternoon at the Hotel Syracuse, in Syracuse, to discuss what steps should be taken.

The Federal Boating Act of 1958, or Bonner Bill, requires that owners of all boats with motors of 10 horsepower or over operating on tidal or inland navigable waters be registered with the Coast Guard after April 1, 1960—unless a state plan is developed and approved. Assemblyman Cusick said, "The proposed federal registration fee is $5 for a three-year period."

"For several years, the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Boats has been developing plans designed to modernize the state's navigation laws and to provide much-needed motor boating programs covering safety, public education and enforcement—required because of the tremendous boom in motor boating activities," Assemblyman Cusick said. "Since 1956, a series of bills designed to preserve the enjoyment of our state's unmatched waterways have been recommended for passage by the committee and become law."

"At the same time, the committee has sought and encouraged the establishment of needed facilities, such as launching sites."

"If we are to continue to carry out these objectives, we must have income. If a state plan is not adopted, needed funds will be lost to the state."

THE NATIONAL SYMPHONY

National Symphony Orchestra to Play Here On Saturday for Community Concert Series

Kingston's Community Concert Association members will attend the first concert of the season Saturday night, when the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., will be presented at the Community Theatre, Broadway, at 8:30 o'clock. Howard Mitchell, who is generally credited with molding the orchestra into one of a handful of really great symphonic ensembles in the world, will conduct.

The Kingston concert will include Mozart's Symphony No. 35 in D Major, known as the "Haffner Symphony"; Debussy's "Le Mer" (The Sea); and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor Opus 64.

Mitchell is a master programmer and a great variety of works are performed each year under his direction. He has been honored by five important national awards, three which cited him for "distinguished services to American music."

The conductor was brought to the Washington orchestra in 1933 by the late Hans Kindler, as principal of the cello section. He appeared regularly as soloist, then, in 1941, he made his debut as conductor of one of the "pop" concerts, sharing the program with Rudolph Ganz. That year Kindler felt the need of a helping hand with his heavy schedule and asked Mitchell to take over the children's concerts and become assistant conductor. He became permanent conductor in 1949.

Good Taste Today

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette" etc.

AN UNHAPPY CHRISTMAS

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband died quite suddenly two weeks ago and I dread the thought of the coming Christmas season as I know it will be a very unhappy time for me. However, my children are too young to realize the tragedy of their father's death and are looking forward eagerly to Christmas. For their sakes, I would like to make it as gay as possible. Will you please tell me how far I can go without being thought heartless by my friends? In other words, would it be proper to have a Christmas tree, exchange presents, etc.?

Answer: Certainly you may have a Christmas tree for the children and exchange presents and make it just as gay as you can for them. It would be very unfair to them to spoil their Christmas because of your own unhappiness, and I am sure everyone will understand why you are doing it. You would naturally not give any parties for your own friends.

Hors D'Oeuvres at Cocktail Party

Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party I went to the other day, the waiter came around with a tray of hors d'oeuvres. I took two from the tray but I noticed that everyone else took only one. I felt rather embarrassed and have been wondering whether I did the wrong thing. Will you please advise me?

Answer: At cocktail parties the hors d'oeuvres are passed around again and again so that it is quite unnecessary to take two at a time, but there is nothing wrong in doing so.

Eating Fruit Salad

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I had lunch together the other day and we both ordered a fresh fruit salad. It was served in a dish lined with lettuce. My friend ate hers with a spoon while I ate mine with a fork. Who was right?

Answer: You were.

How to eat the cherry in a cocktail, whether to break crackers into soup and many other table manners are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-16, "Table Rules of Importance." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Old Dutch Groups Plan Presentation Of Melodrama Here

A musical melodrama entitled "Old Kingston Point Park" is planned for presentation to the public late in January. It will be jointly sponsored by the Men's Club and Senior Choir of the Old Dutch Church. The plot unfolds in two acts. The first act takes place at the Trolley Plaza and the second act takes place at the edge of the lagoon facing the band stand and pier. There are 12 musical numbers which date back to the 1880's, and include titles such as "When Heinie Waltzed Round on His Hickory Limb," "She Forgot to Bring Him Back," and "Take Me Round Again."

KHS Girls Plan Week's Menu for Cafeteria; Study Is Made Part of Homemaking Class

As part of their unit on menu planning, girls in Homemaking 10 Class at Kingston High School have set up a menu for this week which will be used in the high school and Myron J. Michael cafeterias. They worked on the program under the direction of their teacher, Miss Margaret Schuetz, and Mrs. Catherine Ellsworth, director of the School Lunch Program.

"Both Miss Schuetz and I feel this unit of study has given the girls a keener insight into the difficulties of planning food for the public," Mrs. Ellsworth told The Freeman today. "We are very pleased with the results."

In preparation for the project, Mrs. Ellsworth, who plans school lunches for all the city schools, met with the students to discuss various facets of the School Lunch Program. She explained the menu pattern, nutritional requirements of the Type A lunch and informed the group that three types of lunches must be planned—the hot lunch, salad plate and bag lunch.

Mrs. Ellsworth also explained the use of donated commodities received from the government.

To assist in the planning, so that they might understand relation to labor and machinery available, the class visited the Owning the longest car on the block won't guarantee you happiness in your later years.

But 80-year old Dame Kathleen Courtney, a tiny, energetic Englishwoman, has no doubt about what DOES put the gold into the golden years.

Just a few minutes' conversation with this diminutive octogenarian, who recently flew home to London after an extensive lecture tour in the eastern United States, convinces you Dame Kathleen knows what she is talking about.

What are the things Dame Kathleen, an expert on world affairs, considers important?

"Friends," she said, "and not all from my own age group."

"I'm going to be realistic. It's sad but true that, when you are 80, not many of your old school-mates are around."

"I've made friends in younger age groups. They keep me young because they are looking forward to the future, instead of backward at the past."

"All my life, I've been so interested in other people, I haven't had time to think about myself."

"The fanciest TV set in the world isn't going to keep you from being lonely. But having a genuine concern about other people will do the trick."

"Speaking of TV, being in America has made me more about today's emphasis on material things. It seems to me too many people are convinced they can't possibly exist without every-product they see or hear advertised."

Dame Kathleen — that title given her by Queen Elizabeth is equivalent to "knight"—is thankful for health. Slender and bright-eyed, she thinks that looking after your physical "machine" while you are young pays off in later years.

"I can give a lecture at noon, be interviewed in the afternoon, attend a dinner party and then be on hand before nine the next morning for a talk to a school assembly," said Dame Kathleen. "And I'm young enough to be planning a jet flight for my next trip across the ocean."

Spiritual values are high on her list.

"The fact that so many people rush to hear evangelists preach proves they are looking for something they can't buy at the store," said Dame Kathleen. "Certainly, bread alone isn't the answer to our needs—at any time of life."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Fire Chief L. Murphy, retired, brought a very interesting item, published by the Tappan Zee Historical Society of Rockland County, N.Y. It is Vol. 2 No. 4—dated October-December 1958. On the front is a reproduction of "Isaac Post Powder Horn, Grider Collection, Courtesy of the New York Historical Society, N. Y."

The following on the item: "The Isaac Post Powder Horn is over 30 inches long. It hung during many years behind the bar of an ancient tavern in Kingston, New York." (Mr. Murphy is interested to learn the name of the tavern.) Further it says: "It was remarkable on account of its size and its having been carried at the storming of Stony Point by a well known soldier of those parts. He served in three regiments as a private, 1779. Col. Wynkoop's Regt. Col. Pawling's Regt. Col. Hays Regt. Capt. Dietrich's Co. Capt. Westbrook & Hays Co. Capt. Tourner's Co. The horn is owned at Hurley, by Mrs. Elvina Roosa." Capt. Murphy spent several days trying to trace the owner and anything about this powder horn, perhaps some of the readers may have some knowledge of this item.

This pamphlet further links it to this city: "The Powder-Horn in History, by James E. Serven, Gid. Stanley of Kingston put aside his jack-knife. He turned the powder horn in his hand and critically surveyed the detailed etchings he had so painstakingly cut in its smooth white surface. He smiled with satisfaction, and his thoughts went back to the events which had inspired this work of his hand. There, etched on his powder-horn, in addition to a rough map of the route from New York to Albany, were his name and address and the words, 'Stony Point was taken July 16, 1779. I know for I was there.'"

When to Trump Partner's King

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There is a time and place for everything—even trumping your partner's trick.

East's three diamond overall was a nuisance bid designed to upset the enemy's communication. This time the bid had no effect as South was able to bid three hearts and North had a sound raise to four.

West opened his singleton diamond. The way the cards lay a trump opening would have been better but West was not clairvoyant.

South won the first diamond, led a club to dummy's ace and a spade from dummy. East played the three and South went up with the king only to see it lose to West's ace.

Now West led a trump and South won in dummy. A second spade lost to East's queen and East led the king of diamonds.

At this point West decided it was about time for him to trump his partner's trick. Obviously South was getting ready for a cross-ruff and a second trump lead would take away one ruffing trick.

Suiting the action to the thought, West ruffed and led his last trump. Now South had two trumps left in dummy but three losing cards in his own hand. He had to lose one trick and the contract.

New Air Freight System Seen Boon To Supply Lift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has taken a good look at a new automatic air freight handling system that may revolutionize global movement of military supplies. Civilian and military airlift operations also could be speeded by use of the system at a number of bases. There has been no announcement of its adoption. Engineers estimated that should a new Berlin airlift be required, use of the new system would add as much as 40 per cent to the lift capacity of big new transports, such as the propjet C130 Hercules, mostly in loading time saved. The system was developed by Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Marietta, Ga., specially for the Lockheed C130, which is coming into wide use in the Air Force. It includes a portable dock and a "low boy" trailer 48 feet long. Eliminating one out of five persons needed for loading and unloading operations, it makes possible the placing of 18 to 20 tons of cargo into a C130 in 20 minutes. The cargo is "unitized" in advance by assembly into lightweight pallets—carrying up to 3½ tons each—that are coupled into a train. Battery-powered electric winches haul the train into or out of the C130 cargo compartment quickly, and automatic locking devices fasten the pallets for immediate shipment. Two C130s of the Tactical Air Command have demonstrated the mechanized method to 1,000 Air Force, Navy, Army, Marine and airline cargo officials in a two-week tour.

The First Settlement
The first settlement made by white men on the Atlantic Coast of North America was made on what was to be South Carolina. In 1626, Lucas Vazquez de Aylon, a Spaniard, with about 500 people, landed near present day Winyah Bay. The cold, Indian attacks and disease depleted their ranks by two thirds. After several months, the Spaniards returned to San Domingo.

Some people just can't unbend and be human until misfortune has taken the starch out of them.
Two Cape Cod fishermen had an argument one day as to which was the better mathematician. Finally the captain of the fishing smack proposed the following problem for them as a test:
If a fishing crew caught five hundred pounds of cod and brought their catch to port and sold it for six cents a pound, how much would they receive for the fish?
The two old fellows got to work, but neither seemed able to master the intricacies of the deal in fish, and they were unable to arrive at an answer.
At last old Bill turned to the captain and asked him to repeat the problem.
Captain—If a fishing crew caught five hundred pounds of cod and—
Bill—Wait a minute there, wait a minute. Is it codfish they caught?
Captain—Yep.
Bill—Blame it all, it ain't no wonder I couldn't get an answer. Here I been figuring on salmon all the time.

Hollywood News, Views

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Do American men need more time among themselves?

Fernando Lamas thinks so, if they are not to be dominated by their wives.

The Argentine actor feels it is important for American males to be victors in the age-old battle of the sexes.

Go Home Happy

"In Latin America, we have a very fine custom — the 'after-work cafe.' Lamas declared. "When the men finish their jobs for the day, they drop by for a drink or some coffee. They talk against their employers and their wives and get it out of their systems. Then they go home happy."

"In this country, men have little opportunity for fellowship with each other. They go directly home to their wives. Because of this, they are in danger of losing their masculinity."

But Fernando is all for the American woman. He has demonstrated by marrying one, Arlene Dahl.

Sees Boring Life

"Many foreigners tell me they cannot stand American women because they are too bossy," he remarked. "I think such men are cowards. They prefer foreign women because they are willing to be subservient. To me, those women are too docile. After centuries of trying, they have given up trying to reach equality with men. Living with them might be easier for men, but it would also become a bore."

"I like American women because they know how to fight." Some American males he lamented, aren't willing to fight back. And so they wind up being assistant housewives, washing dishes, changing diapers and wearing aprons as badge of their defeat.

Men Must Fight Back

"A man shouldn't enter the kitchen unless he really likes to cook as a hobby," Fernando stated. "When he comes home after being away for 10 hours at work and on the highway, he shouldn't be required to do housework."

What can a man do to avoid enmeshment around the house? "Fight!" the actor said militantly. "American men are the best fighters in the world; they've proven that in battle."

"Women fought for the right to vote, and they won it. Now they're fighting to subjugate the male. The men will have to fight back, that's all."

Boy, 14, Admits Slaying Aunt, Mother of Two

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y. (AP)—A stocky eighth-grader has admitted the frenzied slaying of his 23-year-old aunt, mother of two children.

Police said Richard C. Mazzotti, 14, told them he killed Mrs. Mary Lou Wright, a slender brunette, "because of a sudden urge I can't explain."

Children Unharmed

The boy's father, Novie Mazzotti, brother of the slain woman, found Mrs. Wright's body late Saturday night in her basement apartment, which showed signs of a terrific battle. Her children, Robert Jr., 5, and Michael, 3, were asleep and unharmed.

Authorities said Richard had battered Mrs. Wright with a large soda bottle, a lamp, a power paint sprayer and a large jar with an electric cord. Then, they said, he stabbed her repeatedly with a carving knife and twisted the cord around her neck.

Mrs. Wright's husband, Robert, 26, was on a weekend hunting trip. He is employed by the sanitation department of this Long Island community.

Account of Slaying

Nassau County authorities pieced together this account of the slaying:

Richard visited his grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Mazzotti, 60, Saturday evening and then called on his aunt. He watched television while Mrs. Wright, dressed in a housecoat, rested in a bedroom.

She asked Richard to leave and he refused, flying into a frenzy. After the attack, he slipped from the apartment, eluding his grandmother. She had become worried when no one answered her call at the Wrights' apartment, which is beneath hers.

Richard was charged with juvenile delinquency because of his age, and was held for an arraignment today.

Six Killed

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—A Canadian air force helicopter crashed and burned Sunday as it was bringing a badly burned Indian woman and her 2-year-old daughter to a hospital. All six persons aboard were killed.

The 14-passenger Sikorsky H34 crashed in snow and poor visibility on a frozen lake 96 miles northeast of Winnipeg.

Woodstock Post Exceeds Quota

Woodstock Post No. 1026 of the American Legion was one of only two posts in New York State to match or exceed its membership quota by the Nov. 11 deadline, it was announced at the November meeting of the local post.

Commander Chester Gaede reported the post had received a letter of commendation from the state commander. Woodstock quota was 115 and a total membership of 123 was announced.

Adjutant William Polk's report also noted the Woodstock Post had the second largest attendance at the departmental commander's dinner recently at Wiltwyck Country Club in Kingston.

Members unanimously adopted a proposal to purchase aluminum siding for the post building and a committee was appointed to report costs and other details at the next meeting.

George Rowland was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the cost of new uniforms for the firing squad. Basis of the uniforms is the Eisenhower-type jackets.

Commander Gaede appointed William Pierpont chairman of the "Blue Crutch" campaign and John Harrison chairman of a committee which will assist in policing the Village Green during the annual Christmas Eve celebration.

Several other improvements on the building facilities were proposed and tabled until the December meeting.

Children's Yuletide Program

B. Sturtevant Gardner, well known Woodstock artist, will read "How Come Xmas" by Roark Bradford at the Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit meeting, Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 2 p. m. at Methodist Church hall.

Christmas songs will be sung with Emily Harrington at the piano. Hostesses will be: Ethel Davis, Therese Duane, Katherine Bertsch, Anna Smullen and Gladys Wilmont.

The Creative Design class meets at 10 a. m. the same day. Members are reminded to bring a dish towel. It has been announced that members have offered to fill Cheer baskets for the Christmas Eve program in the Odd Fellows Hall at a date to be announced later.

Pond to Emcee Program Dinner

James B. Pond of Bearsville, founder and editor of Program magazine, will be toastmaster at the 25th anniversary luncheon of the magazine Friday, Dec. 5, at the New York University Club in New York.

A host of celebrities and persons who have been associated with Program and the platform during the past 25 years, including lecturers, entertainers, managers, sponsors and affiliates, are expected to attend.

The program announcement says "no special celebrities. Everyone present will be a celebrity." It is noted that 1958 is also the 85th anniversary of the founding of the Pond Lecture Bureau in 1873 by the famous pioneer Lyceum manager, Major J. B. Pond.

Twenty Five Assist 'Operation Cleanup'

More than 25 persons assisted co-chairmen Bill West Jr. and Jim Kins in "Operation Cleanup" Tuesday evening in Woodstock.

Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons and Bill West furnished trucks and Larry Hogan and Clarence Snyder directed traffic during the operation. The area from the Woodstock Library to a point beyond Denies was cleaned by the men in the project sponsored by the Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Assisting the chairmen were: Al Albrecht, Wayne Underhill, Bob Hastie, Bill Poppewell, Don West, Bill Glass, Ron Wiltse, Ken Nichols, Telford Graham, Chet Wolven, Arthur Hansen, Roger Cashdollar, Barry Neher, Gerry McCabe, Jimmy Jones, Kins, Dwight Bellinger, Peter Koehn, August Baptiste, Daryl Spencer and Francis Freer.

Three TVs in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Buffalo had three television stations today. WKBW-TV, an ABC affiliate, began broadcasting Sunday.

The new station, on Channel 7, joins WBEN-TV, a CBS affiliate on Channel 4, and WGR-TV, an NBC affiliate on Channel 2.

Dr. Clinton H. Churchill is president of the station. The organization also operates radio station WKBW.

All three are very-high-frequency (VHF) stations.

4 Bodies Found of Persons Despondent Over Ill Health

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Four persons, despondent over poor health, apparently each in turn took their own lives. Their bodies were found Sunday night in a South St. Louis apartment.

The three women and a man, all related, appeared to have been dead for several days.

They were identified by a relative as Arthur Forrester, 62, a salesman; his wife, Lucille, 66; Mrs. Forrester's mother Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86, a widow; and Miss Blanche Conkling, 66, Mrs. Forrester's sister.

The bodies were found by Tilton H. Conkling, a brother of the dead sisters. After trying for several days to contact them, he entered the apartment.

Officers found several notes, some signed by individuals and at least one with the signatures of all four of the dead.

One read, "Art is not responsible for Mom and me." It was found near Blanche Conkling's body.

Forrester, a commission salesman for a cookie company, had incurable lung cancer, fellow employees and his brother-in-law said. A coworker of Forrester's said when told of the deaths, "I'm not surprised."

Mrs. Forrester earlier this year had been in a mental institution and once had attempted to cut her throat, police said her brother told them.

Homicide officers said a newspaper dated Tuesday was the latest one in the room.

Tilton Conkling said he had been trying to reach the family since a week ago Sunday. Forrester had not reported for work for 10 days.

Forrester was found sitting upright on a davenport. A .22-caliber

Bulldozer Ride Damages Houses, Three Boys Held

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Three boys who learned from an old Navy Seabee manual how to start a bulldozer, but didn't read far enough to find out how to stop it, were held on charges of grand larceny and malicious destruction of property today.

Police said the joy-riding youths leaped from the big machine when it started down hill. The bulldozer smashed through one house in which six persons were sleeping and damaged a second house with four persons in it.

Officers said the boys used a hacksaw to cut through a steel band padlocked around the starter of the bulldozer.

No one in the two houses was hurt. Names of the youths were withheld pending a hearing.

Failure to Tip Taxi Cab Driver Leads to Arrest

BOSTON (AP)—Thomas H. McCarthy, 53, didn't tip a cab driver Sunday night. That may have been his undoing.

Police, put on his trail by the cab driver, booked him on suspicion of breaking and entering. They said they found his home crammed with air conditioning, radio and TV equipment and other articles.

They said McCarthy took the cab to a Brookline address, had the cab wait until he returned from an apartment house laden with a radio, TV set and a collection of silver, then drove to his home in the South End.

The cab driver said his suspicions, already aroused, didn't diminish when the man failed to give him a tip. He called police.

Buster Ferraro Rallies to Win Third Straight TV Match

Triple in Final Box Nails Down 19-Pin Triumph

A crucial "Jersey strike" in the 30th frame enabled Buster Ferraro of Kingston to defeat Hugh Gregory, Glens Falls ace, 690 to 671 in Sunday's Channel 6, TV bowling show from the General Electric Lanes in Schenectady.

Ferraro put together games of 236, 235 and 219 to register his third consecutive victory and send his three-week average soaring to 238.

Trailing by 65 pins at the end of two games, Gregory, a 202 shooter in his home town, reeled off eight strikes in a row, narrowing Ferraro's lead to 3 pins before a 5-7 split ruined his bid for a perfect 300 score.

Gregory, finishing first, rebounded from the tough break by striking out in the tenth frame. That gave him 671 on games of 184, 222 and 265 and set up a situation that forced Ferraro to strike on his first ball in the tenth.

The Crucial Strike
Buster, who had been climbing high on the headpin in the third game, was equal to the challenge. He failed to double through the first nine frames, but his first ball in the tenth whipped across the headpin into the 1-2 pocket to clear the deck. The next two shots were perfect 1-3 hits to salvage the match.

Both got off to ragged starts, as Gregory drew the 6-7-10 split and Ferraro left 4 pins standing. Buster spared in the first, struck in the second inning and spared in the third. Then followed six strikes in a row before a baby split took away a potential 270. Ferraro settled for 236 and Gregory never found the range and finished with 184.

Gregory opened the second game with a triple but had a promising game shattered by 3-6-7-10 split in the 7th frame. Ferraro tossed a turkey after an opening spare and but for a couple of taps might have bagged a tremendous game. A wobbly 7-pin ruined a 4-bagger in the fifth frame. Buster bounced back with a strike and then came a 10-pin tap followed by another four-timer.

Gregory pounded the pocket flawlessly in the third game and at the end of eight frames appeared to be a sensational comeback winner. Then came that 5-7 split and Ferraro's clutch Jersey strike.

Ferraro has now fired series of 719, 733 and 690 in defeating three opponents. He makes his fourth appearance next Sunday.

Sunday's scores:

Jones Dairy Wins Two, Forst's Bows to Rees

Jones Dairy keglers moved into a second place tie with Ellenville in the Hudson Valley Bowling league by winning two games from the always tough Channel Masters at Ellenville Saturday night.

Meanwhile, Forst's Formost, despite a 686 series by the red hot Buster Ferraro, dropped two games to the visiting first place Dutchess Recreation team of Poughkeepsie.

In the other local match, the Kingston Five was beaten in three games by the Middletown Merchants.

John Schatzel led the Jones keglers with his biggest blast of the season, a neat 636. His games were 236-192-208. The locals collected 1015 sticks the first game and totaled 2892 for the evening, losing the third game, 1042-951.

Buster Ferraro warmed up for his winning television appearance on Sunday by clubbing 213-238-234 for his big series against the Rees. Teammate Larry Petersen had 190-184-236-610. But, after winning the first game, 926-894, the Forst keglers were buried under an avalanche of strikes, losing 1064-968 and 1058-1020 in the high scoring match. Lefty Dick Rhea led Poughkeepsie with 182-255-215-652. Phil Versace contributed 198-200-231-629 and George Baird had 181-227-198-606.

The Kingston Five could only collect 2559 pins at Middletown and were snowed under in all three games.

College Cage Season Ready To Open Tonight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball opens with a bang tonight. Kentucky, the NCAA champion, and West Virginia, ranked No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll last season, take the floor to top the action.

Kentucky entertains Florida State while West Virginia is on the road at Furman.

Other games find Cincinnati and its famed Oscar Robertson pitted against Indiana State, Indiana's defending Big Ten champs against Drake. Pitt at Michigan, Penn State at North Carolina State, Gettysburg at Temple, Rice at Kansas, Colorado at Iowa, Purdue at Kansas State and Western Michigan at Northwestern.

By Saturday night, virtually all major teams will be in action. The Kent State (Ohio) and Idaho State invitational tournaments start Friday.

Tennessee meets Michigan and Kent State battles Wyoming in the first round of the Kent State tourney. It's Utah State vs. Idaho State and Portland vs. Montana in the first of the Idaho State affair. The two winners in each tourney battle for the championship Saturday night.

In New York Thursday
Robertson, who will appear in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday against St. John's, is expected to dominate the headlines during the season along with Pitt's little Don Hannon.

Kentucky, the surprise of last season, is expected to get stiff opposition for the Southeastern Conference title this year from Mississippi State and Auburn. Northwestern and Purdue are the early favorites in the Big Ten while Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Texas Tech are expected to battle it out for the Southwest Conference title.

Dartmouth Is Choice
Dartmouth is rated high in the Ivy League and Kansas State is rated the choice in the Big Eight. Cincinnati, of course, is favored in the Missouri Valley, with the Atlantic Coast Conference race between Duke, Maryland, North Carolina and N. C. State. West Virginia, as usual, is expected to retain its Southern Conference crown.

Weekend Fights
Hollywood, Calif. — Manuel Quijano, 129½, Mexico, outpointed Willie Parker, 127, Pittsburgh, 10.
Buenos Aires — Isaac Logart, 145½, Cuba, knocked out Jorge Fernandez, 145½, Argentina.
Bismark, N. D. — Del Flanagan, 149½, St. Paul, Minn., outpointed Al Andrews, 154, Superior, Wis., 10.

Teams Unable To Hit Basket Consistently

Unable to hit the hoop with any consistency, Rondout Valley school cagers dropped a 37-30 contest to visiting Livingston Manor Saturday. Coach Chick Meehan's cagers had the first game jitters and failed to score in double figures until the final period.

Ed Hannon led the Kerhonkson club with three field goals and four foul shots for 10 points. Tom Chiappetta (8) also helped, notching four baskets from the floor.

The visitors fell behind, 6-5, in the first quarter but by halftime had taken a 17-10 margin. It was 29-19 at the end of three periods. In the fourth quarter, Rondout made a belated drive but fell short of the mark.

Livingston Manor won the jayvee tilt, 32-16.

After leading by a 26-20 margin at halftime, the Plains players played their opponents even during the second half to insure the verdict.

Many Records Set As Yonkers Closes

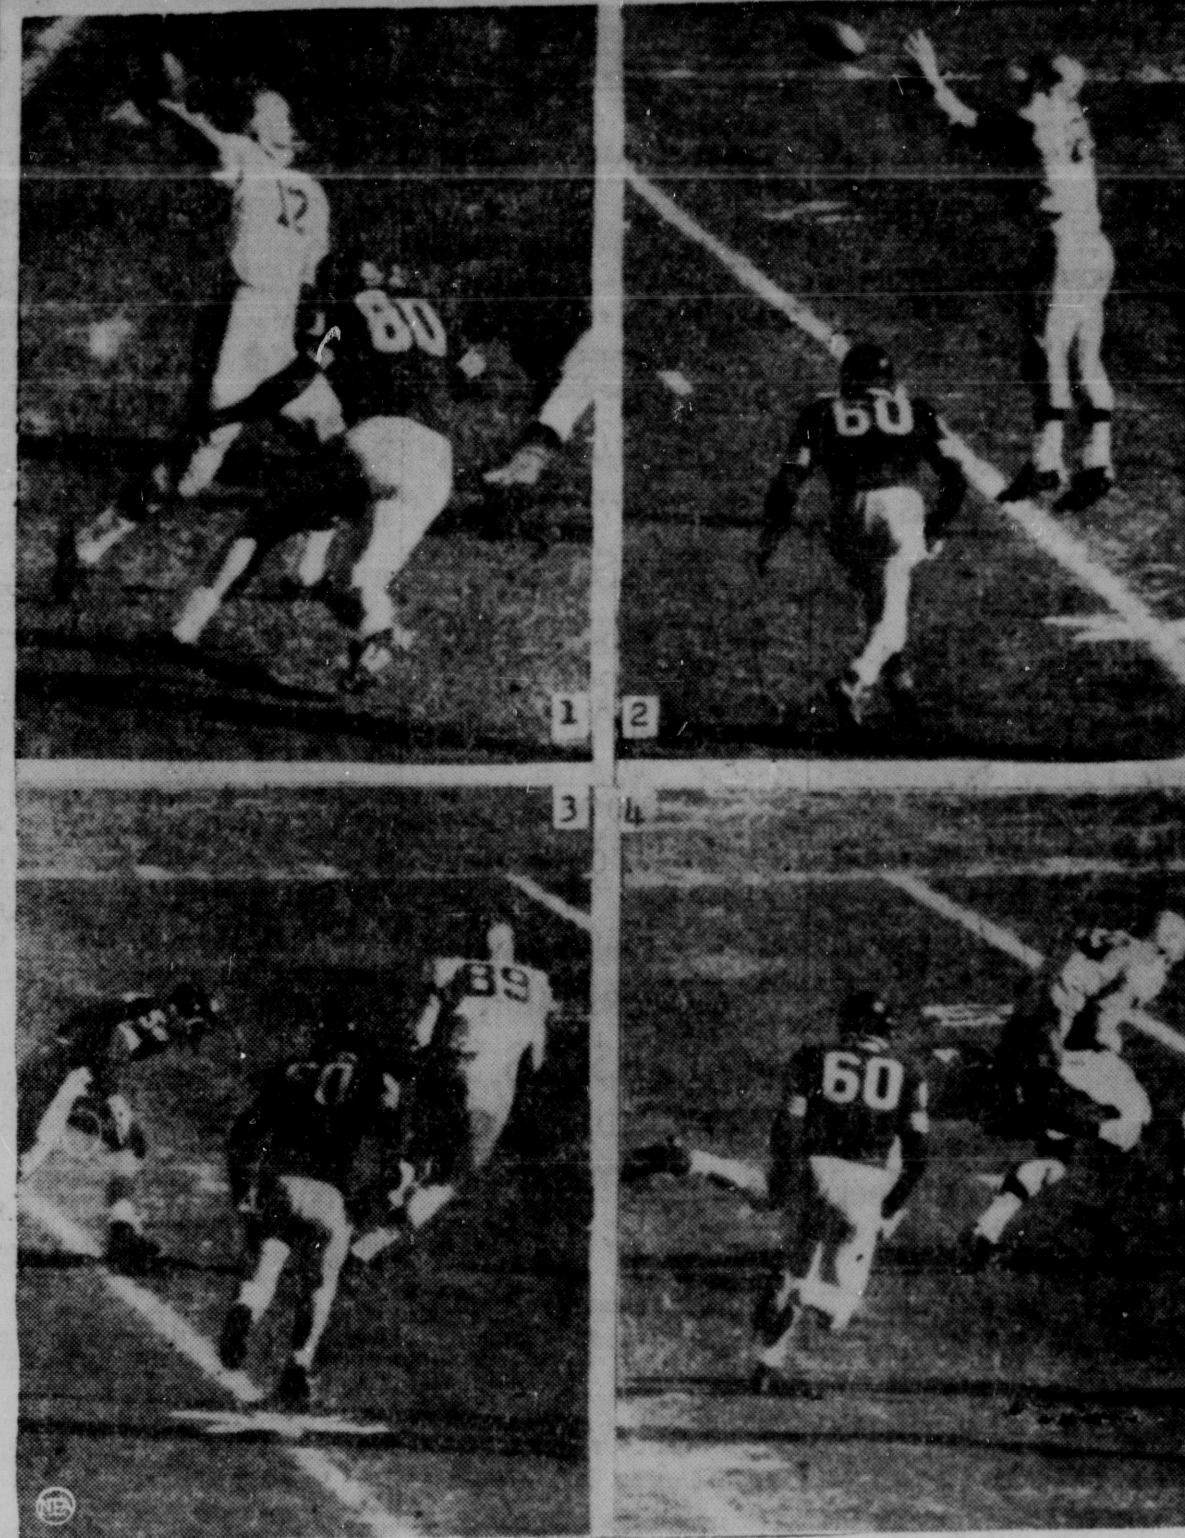

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Yonkers Raceway concluded its harness racing season Saturday night with a flurry of new records.

The season's handle for the 104 nights was $190,683,574, which broke the previous world's high mark for harness racing of $184,260,273, set this year at Roosevelt Raceway.

Billy Haughton's stable closed the season with $1,022,690 in purses, the first harness driver to win a million dollars or more in a single season.

Yonkers' average handle of $1,833,496 broke Roosevelt's world mark of $1,754,860.

The season's attendance and single-night handle broke track records. The attendance was 2,535,709. The $2,406,597 wagered Saturday night was the track's highest handle.

Colleges Point Towards Bowls

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Teams began pointing toward post-season games today. But one couldn't blame Louisiana State, Bowl-bound college football California and Syracuse for showing more determination than the others.

LSU, the nation's only major undefeated and untied team, will make its fifth appearance in the Sugar Bowl. The Bayou Tigers have yet to win a bowl game.

This will be their sixth bowl trip, fifth to the New Orleans classic. Clemson, LSU's opponent, will be playing in the Sugar Bowl for the first time, but has a 3-2 record in other bowl competition.

California is 2-4-1 in the Rose Bowl. Iowa, the Bears' New Year's Day foe, has a 35-19 record over Oregon State in 1957 to show for its only outing in Pasadena.

Syracuse, which meets Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, has had only one previous experience in that game. It emerged with a 61-6 pasting by Alabama in 1953. Oklahoma has won its last three in the Miami Jan. 1 game after losing to Tennessee in 1939.

Montreal Starts Getting Goals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Montreal Canadiens were going along at a desultory pace and then all of a sudden...

boom boom — 13 goals in two games and sole possession of first place in the National Hockey League.

The Canadiens were in second place following Boston's 3-1 victory over New York in a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon.

But Montreal streaked into a three-point lead by clobbering Detroit in a home-and-home, week-end series. The scores were 6-2 and 7-0.

Sunday night's shutout was featured by Boom Boom Geoffrion's three goals.

In other games last night, the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Boston 2-1 and Chicago rallied to tie New York 2-2.

Monty Stickles Makes 2 All-America Teams

Monty Stickles, Notre Dame's junior end from Poughkeepsie, has been named to a pair of All-America teams, according to latest releases.

The 6-4, 230 pounder has been awarded a position on the United Press International second team, and the NEA Service placed Stickles on its third team.

First team flankers on the UPI team are Buddy Dial of Rice and Sam Williams of Michigan State. Stickles missed the coveted first team by only a handful of votes.

He drew the most votes of any player on the second team. Sharing the honors with Stickles at end is Rich Kreitling of Illinois. Allan Ecyer, Notre Dame's stellar guard, gets a first team post on UPI Jarring fullback.

Earl Butler Captures DUSO Scoring Crown

Earl Butler of Newburgh has won the DUSO Football League scoring championship, edging Hobie Armstrong by a mere three points. Despite being blanked by Kingston, Butler scored five touchdowns against the league's lesser lights, Port Jervis and Middletown, to win the title. Armstrong did not play against Port Jervis and saw only limited action against Middletown. Therefore, his 27 points were made against the second and third place clubs, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

According to unofficial figures, compiled by The Freeman Sports department, only Butler, Armstrong and Dick DeReut scored more than 20 points during the league season. Another oddity is the fact that Middletown, in four league starts, did not score a point.

Armstrong, who won the title last season with a 66 point total, had only three touchdowns and nine extra points this season, his lowest in three years of football.

The individual scoring:

Player, team	TD'S	PAT	T
Butler, Newburgh	5	0	30
Armstrong, Kingston	3	9	27
DePew, P'keepsie	4	1	25
O'Connor, Kingston	3	1	19

Carter, Ladewig to Defend Title in World Tournament

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The second annual World Invitational match game bowling championship, carrying a $30,200 prize list, will open Wednesday with a field of 128 men and women from 24 states, Hawaii and Canada.

Don Carter of St. Louis will defend his title in the men's division in which the top prize is $5,000.

Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., will try to recapture the women's championship, worth $2,500.

The final hour of the tourney on Friday, Dec. 12, will be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company beginning at 10 p. m. (New York time). The men's field includes Carter's six St. Louis Budweiser teammates. Among them are Tom Hennessey, the world runner-up last year, who subsequently won the ABC Masters, the national doubles (with Carter) and the Southern individual match game crowns.

Matthews in Field
Merle Matthews of Long Branch, Calif., national individual match game champion, heads the challengers in the women's division.

Wednesday night, the entire field will roll in a special $3,000 preview event called the Parade of Champions.

Starting at 11 a. m. Thursday, the tourney proper will begin. The men will bowl six games daily, the women four, through Sunday, Dec. 7, when the field will be trimmed to the top 48 in each division.

A double round Dec. 8 will reduce the field to the 15 high scorers, plus the defending champion in each division for the final four days of head-to-head match game competition.

Civil Service Seeks Over 200 for Research

More than 200 of the most inquisitive-minded college seniors and recent graduates in the country will be sought for federal scientific research positions through an intensive, nationwide search, the Civil Service Commission announced today.

In addition to a big bump of curiosity, the persons sought must have imagination, resourcefulness, and a high potential for research work in engineering or the physical sciences. Eleven of the top government research laboratories located in and around Washington, D. C., are among the federal agencies seeking the inquisitive college seniors and graduates.

Mechanics of the search is a nationwide, written civil service examination which will be given in February at more than 1,000 examination points across the nation. To help push the search, deans of college departments and college placement officers throughout the country have been supplied with detailed information about the examination. In addition, most post offices in the country have been given similar information. Qualified applicants may file for the examination from December 1 through March 3.

"The college seniors or graduates who make the grade will be paid a starting salary of $5,430 a year and can set their sights on the highest level research positions in the Federal government, if they can measure up to the challenges of the research work and grow professionally in their positions," the commission said.

Further information may be obtained from Central Post Office.

Seasonal Cold Hits Northeast, Chills Southland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's coldest weather blanketed the Northeast and sent an icy chill deep into the South today. The Midwest got a brief respite from the near-zero cold and snow.

The Northeast was hit by the frigid blasts in the wake of the heavy snowstorm which swept the region over the weekend after leaving near record early season falls in the Rockies and Midwest.

Temperatures dropped below zero in northern New England and near zero in parts of New York state. One of the lowest readings was -14 at Mt. Washington, N.H.

The mercury edged toward the zero mark in areas southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. The freezing line extended southward toward the mid-Gulf Coast, including northwestern Florida.

Subzero marks were in prospect from the eastern Great Lakes to the mountain regions of eastern West Virginia and through the interior sections of New England. Snow was in prospect during the day in the north Atlantic states.

After several days of cold, snow and strong winds, a warming trend developed throughout most of the Mississippi Valley, the eastern Plains and the West Great Lakes.

Christmas Eve Has Fatal Traffic Accident Record

CHICAGO—More fatal traffic accidents, including more pedestrian deaths, happen each Christmas Eve than at any other comparable time of the year.

The National Safety Council, which compiles holiday statistics, says that 6 to 7 p. m. on Christmas Eve is the deadliest hour both for drivers and pedestrians.

List Many Hazards
Darkness, bad weather, speed, alcohol and pedestrian errors are the cause of the high toll.

Since many persons will have a four-day holiday at Christmas and New Year's, the council fears the season's highway toll may hit an all-time high unless drivers, pedestrians and enforcement officials take extra precaution.

During the 1956 Christmas-New Year holidays, each of four days, traffic claimed 706 lives at Christmas and 409 during New Year's.

Last year, when most persons had only a one-day holiday, the traffic toll was 224 for Christmas and 160 for New Year's.

Council surveys of last year's toll show that 72 per cent of the fatal accidents involved speed too fast for conditions.

Drinking drivers were involved in 55 per cent of the fatal and non-fatal accidents.

Seeks Cooperation
In an effort to combat holiday drinking and driving, the council has asked its 8,000 business and industrial members to take a new look at their office parties.

"Keep the cork in the bottle or eliminate the parties," the council asks.

Social drinkers — not the obvious drunks — are the big menace on the highway and the council warns that three hours are needed to eliminate the effect of two cocktails.

"If office parties are kept dry, workers and their families may escape the tragedy of a saddened Christmas Eve," the council said.

Predicts Accidents To Kill 50,000, Asks Action Taken

CHICAGO (AP) — A safety expert today predicted traffic accidents will cost 50,000 lives in 1965 unless effective action is taken.

Henry J. Hoefler, assistant general manager of the National Safety Council, also stated that the annual toll eight years hence could include 1,900,000 injuries and an economic loss of seven billion dollars.

Hoefler noted, for comparison, that traffic fatalities numbered 38,500 last year.

"You will be shocked to hear," he said, "that 1,081,600 people lost their lives as traffic fatalities between Jan. 1, 1925, and Jan. 1, 1958."

Lehigh Valley RR May Stop Service

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayors, newspaper editors and state officials of three states met here today to discuss Lehigh Valley Railroad passenger service, which is threatened with abandonment.

Those invited to the public meeting by the railroad are from points along the Lehigh Valley in New York State, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The letter of invitation, which went out Nov. 25, said "there appears to be no solution other than to initiate proceedings to discontinue all passenger trains." The letter was signed by C. A. Major, Lehigh Valley vice president.

On the basis of direct and allocated costs, passenger losses amount to $13,000 a day, the letter said.

The letter continued: "It has become manifest that the company's freight revenues no longer can stand the passenger losses plus the heavy right-of-way costs and huge state and local taxes from which other forms of transportation are largely exempt. . . . The completion, through expenditure of public funds, of fine superhighways paralleling our right-of-way has accelerated the departure from our service."
